Another Daley Victory

Court Order Not Stay On Taking Over Office

The Theodore G. Daley faction of Local 445, Teamsters Union, won another victory today in its long court battle for control of the truck driver's union with headquarters in Yonkers.

Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick ruled that appeal from his decision granting control to the Daley slate did not prevent the Daley group from taking over the Yonkers office, including books, records and other property.

Francis Stickel of Yonkers and Philip Masiella of Middletown have tried to block Daley and his slate from taking over as officers of the local. Stickel and Masiello were convicted last Oct. 4 of conspiracy to extort $64,000 from 11 milk companies by threatening labor trouble.

No 'Stay' Intended

Notice of appeal, filed Sept. 10 with the Ulster County Clerk, does not "stay proceedings to enforce said order" turning over property to the Daley faction, Judge Schirick said.

"It is apparent from the reading of the certification by the clerk that the defendants are attempting to convey the impressions that all proceedings under my order are stayed," Judge Schirick said in his decision.

Up to Courts

"The defendants must realize that such certification by the County Clerk cannot be considered an effective or proper stay, and that the only way to obtain such stay is from this court or from the Appelate Division.

"The mere filing of an undertaking could not act as a stay because of the peculiar nature of the action and my order . . .

"No amount of bond could compensate these plaintiffs for the damages suffered if they were carrying out their functions and duties as officers of this local union pending the trial and determination of this action. Here the damages are unascertainable and injuries which would ensue are intangible.

"The defendants failed to comply with the provision of the Civil Practice Act, since no judge has fixed the amount of bond which they filed and no order signed by any court or judge fixing the amount of the bond was served on counsel for the plaintiff . . .

"For these reasons it is clear that plaintiffs are entitled to the relief sought. A further reason for vacating this certificate is to eliminate the confusion now existing among law enforcement officers throughout the state. Even though this certificate can have no effect, it has created

Johnny D. Angle Is Probed

Washington, Sept. 13 (AP)—Senate investigations subcommittee said today it has subpoenaed the records of the Teamsters Union Local No. 445 in Yonkers, N. Y., in its search for alleged gangster influence in labor unions.

An insurgent group which has seized control of the union in an announced drive to clean out any underworld influence had said yesterday it found the records contained references to a mysterious "Johnny D."

Subcommittee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy questioned whether this might not be a reference to Johnny Dio, now awaiting trial for the acid blinding of labor columnist Victor Riesel.

Checking Records

Kennedy said he has sent two staff investigators to Yonkers who are now exploring the subpoenaed records with the union's lawyer, Frank Martocci.

He said the records contain references to "mysterious transactions" which could be tied to the underworld.

Kennedy said the subcommittee among other things will try to find out "who is Johnny D?"

The Senate group, he said, has had a continuing interest in Dio since it questioned him behind closed doors last spring in another phase of its investigation—the buying of uniforms for the armed services.

Counsel to Governor Will Talk to Democrats Sunday

Principal speaker for Sunday's seventh annual picnic of the Ulster County Democratic Women's Club is Judge Daniel Gutman, counsel to Governor Averell Harriman, and former member of the New York State Senate and Assembly.

The picnic will be held at Spindler's resort on the Kingston-Rosendale road, starting at 2 p. m. It will go on rain or shine, the committee said.

Judge Gutman, a resident of Brooklyn, aside from his governmental activities, is interested in numerous welfare, philanthropic, fraternal and youth organizations. He also has written and lectured extensively.

Other speakers Sunday will be: Attorney Vincent di Gennaro, Poughkeepsie, Democratic candidate for member of congress.

William Byrne, Catskill, formerly of Kingston, running for the state senate post held for 30 years by Senator Arthur H. Wicks of this city.

Mayor Eugene Glusker, Ellenville, candidate for state assemblyman.

Arthur Withall, Rifton, running for sheriff of Ulster county.

Attorney Thomas J. Plunket, this city, chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Committee, and candidate for Ulster county surrogate.

Judge Gutman has had a distinguished career since his graduation, cum laude, from Brooklyn Law School in 1922.

He has been an assistant U. S. attorney, assistant district attorney of Kings county, member of the state assembly and senate.

In 1943, Judge Gutman was elected a justice of the municipal court. He was reelected, following nomination by the Democratic party, and endorsement by both the Republican and Liberal parties.

In his interests outside of the civic field, Judge Gutman was a member of the Brooklyn Executive Board of the Boy Scouts of America for 13 years.

He has been active in Red Cross work, organized and headed the Brownsville Mental Health Clinic and is honorary president of the East New York Boys Club.

At present, Judge Gutman is Greater New York chairman of the Jewish National Fund and is Brooklyn co-chairman of the United Jewish Appeal.

In the educational field, he has lectured at Brooklyn College, New York University and Yale Law School.

Serving on the picnic committee are Mrs. Lincoln Crosby, general chairman; Mrs. Thomas Houlihan, Mrs. Wesley Dunbar, Mrs. Jacob Myers, Mrs. Joseph Roach, Mrs. Stanley Van Wagenen, Mrs. Lillian Courtier and Miss Ruth Dawes. George Magley and William T. Mahoney are in charge of entertainment.

No Opinion Yet About 6th Ward

Albert L. Hecht, an assistant counsel to the New York State Division of Housing, returned to New York after conferring with local officials and inspecting possible housing sites in the sixth ward, yesterday, but left no hint of what the authority's opinion of the area might be.

The state housing representative indicated that technical data will be compiled and that the city could have an answer, as to acceptability of any site in the area, in a week or two. Sites inspected included the area cleared in conjunction with the Colonial Gardens project.

Mayor Frederick H. Stang, George E. Yerry, Jr., chairman of the local housing authority, Corporation Counsel James J. Abernathy, and Alexander Yosman, Colonial Gardens manager conferred with Hecht.

The Common Council recently rejected a housing project as proposed for the Kingman Park area, but left the way open for possible consideration of one in the sixth ward.

Inspection Table Given for Autos According to Year

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 13 (AP)—The older your car, the sooner you must get it inspected next year, when the state's new program for compulsory safety inspection of automobiles and trucks gets underway.

Schedule Given

The State Motor Vehicle Bureau today announced this month-by-month schedule for the checkups, to be conducted by specially licensed private garages:

Model Year	Inspection Month
1938 and older	February
1939-40	March
1941-45	April
1946	May
1947	June
1948	July
1949	August
1950	September
1951	October
1952	November

Annual Checkup Required

The new inspection law requires annual checkups of cars, trucks and trailers more than four years old and inspection of used vehicles when sold, regardless of age.

Actually the legal deadline for meeting inspection is Jan. 1, 1958. But the bureau is staggering the checkups over the 10-month period to avoid congestion. The law empowers the bureau to do so.

About three million vehicles will be subject to inspection in the first year of the program, the bureau estimates.

10 Days for Repairs

Drivers whose cars fail to pass inspection—brakes, lights, steering and wheel alignment—in the assigned month will be given 10 days in which to make repairs. If the vehicles fail to measure up after that, registration may be suspended.

No vehicle subject to the law will be registered for 1958 unless it has won an inspection sticker of approval.

Convicts Flee Prison

Rawlins, Wyo., Sept. 13 (AP)—Using a saw and a rope, three convicts escaped from the state penitentiary last night and touched off a manhunt in this south-central Wyoming territory. Warden Dean Miller termed the escapees dangerous and said two were involved in a riot at the prison in July of 1955. Miller identified the escapees as Arlen Sheriff, 27, Harry Arnold, 31, and Royal Nester, 36. Sheriff and Arnold were principles in last year's strike when a band of rioting prisoners seized one wing of the penitentiary. Both were serving 15-to-18 year terms on a 1950 conviction for armed robbery.

Foster Is Named by 3 Parties

Endorsed 3d Time For Court Post

Supreme Court Justice Sydney F. Foster, presiding justice of the Appellate Division, was nominated Wednesday by delegates of both the Democratic and Republican Third Judicial conventions at Albany Court House, as a bi-partisan candidate for a third term.

At the convention of the Liberal Party Wednesday evening he was also endorsed by that party.

On Bench 28 Years

At the judicial convention of the two major parties, Justice Foster, 63-year-old jurist from Liberty, Sullivan county, was highly praised. He has been on the Supreme Court bench for 28 years, the longest tenure of any justice of that court. He was first elected to the bench as a Republican in 1928, and for a second term as a bi-partisan candidate.

Foster was nominated at the Republican convention by Carl Goldstein of Monticello and former Supreme Court Justice Joseph Rosch of Albany seconded the nomination. Each of the seven counties in the Third Judical District also seconded the nomination. A total of 37 of the 50 delegates of the district were present. Justice Foster was first associated with Justice Rosch in practice of the law in Sullivan county.

Wicks on Committee

J. Ellis Staley Jr., Albany, son of former Supreme Court Justice J. Ellis Staley, was elected chairman of the Republican judicial convention and Frank Campochiaro of Kingston was secretary. Following the nomination of Justice Foster, Charles E. Curlette, chairman of the Albany County Republican Committee; Mrs. John R. Tinklepaugh, Columbia county; Neal Brandow, Greene county; Senator Arthur H. Wicks, chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee; Douglas Hudson, Rensselaer county; Harold W. Cole of Sullivan county, were appointed to the Republican vacancy committee.

In placing the name of Justice Foster before Republican convention, Goldstein traced the jurist's career on the bench. He said Foster received his first appointment to the Appellate Division by Democratic Governor Herbert H. Lehman and his subsequent designations by Republican Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

At the Democratic judicial convention, also held Wednesday afternoon in Albany, Michael Dobris, former Albany Police Court justice, made the nominating speech in which he praised Justice Foster and described him as a "man of great talent, unusual ability, a jurist of a great moral courage, who upholds the dignity of the Court with the highest integrity and utmost fairness."

No Union Backing, Aldermen Believe

Five Republican aldermen, who this week proposed a new local housing authority chairman in place of George E. Yerry Jr., said in a statement issued today that they do not believe that the chairman, an area labor leader, "speaks for the union" in the housing controversy.

Mayor Frederick H. Stang, on the day of publication of Common Council proceedings, which included the move to replace Yerry, advised the aldermen to confine their acts to the legislative branch of city government, and he announced that he would reappoint Yerry as a member of the housing authority.

The mayor, meanwhile, was commended for his statement in a resolution adopted by the Ulster and Sullivan Counties Building and Construction Trades Council, AFL-CIO.

The resolution was acted upon at a regular meeting of the trades council, which represents 39 affiliated local unions and was conducted by Samuel Doyle, who has been its president for 12 years. The statement by the aldermen mentions no specific union or union group but uses the term, "the union."

The five aldermen, Richard V. Roth, 12th ward; George P. Norton Jr., sixth ward; Hirschell Mayes, first ward; Samuel J. Perry, fifth ward, and William A. Davis, 11th ward, in their statement today were critical of the mayor, the press and Yerry, without directly mentioning his name.

The statement:

"It's remarkable how quickly the mayor, the local newspaper, and the self-appointed voice of the union came to the aid of the housing authority chairman, and directed a tirade against five Republican aldermen, who apparently hit them in a very, very vulnerable spot. We do not believe the chairman speaks for the union. We respect and admire the union as we are also working men the same as they are.

"It was proposed in the newspaper article that we, the people, should be represented by five aldermen instead of the 13 now duly elected representatives of each ward of the city.

"Could it be that five are more easily controlled than the 13 vigilant aldermen, who are now serving the people regardless of political faith.

"We ask you. . . ."

Nixon to Supply Blasts

Ike Predicts Victory Through Work Crusade

Gettysburg, Pa., Sept. 13 (AP)—President Eisenhower apparently intends to lay stress on his administration's hopes for the future while leaving to Vice President Nixon any direct swings at the Democratic opposition.

That pattern for Republican campaigning was laid out here yesterday at a clover pasture rally of about 500 GOP leaders on Eisenhower's farm estate.

Eisenhower, who said "I feel fine" and looked it in country squire garb of sports coat and slacks, told the picnicking Republicans their first order of business is to get everybody registered and to the polls on Election Day.

He feels so nonpartisan about that, Eisenhower said, that even if the Republicans couldn't convert all the new voters "I'd rather they voted against us than not at all."

Without a word of direct criticism of the Democrats, Eisenhower urged the GOP workers to campaign in every section of the country to make sure that "we stay on the straight road of prosperity, progress and peace."

He urged the GOP workers to "change a campaign into a crusade" and predicted November victory if there is enough hard work. "Don't let our people down by writing off as hopeless any contest, by conceding any area," he said. "This is the road to stalemate or to defeat."

He exhorted his hearers to campaign on the theme that the GOP is "best fitted for management of our government."

Nixon, in a preview of the 32-state campaign tour he will begin next Tuesday, told the Republicans: "You don't win elections on a diet of dishwater and milk toast."

He made it plain he will aim plenty of ammunition at Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, Sen. Estes Kefauver, his running mate, and former President Harry S. Truman.

Nixon challenged Stevenson to repudiate a statement by Truman that Truman does not believe Alger Hiss was a spy. Hiss, a former State Department employe, served a prison term for perjury growing out of his denial that he passed secret government papers to a Russian spy ring.

Nixon said that if Stevenson doesn't disown Truman's statement, "we shall have to discuss this issue and let people decide whether we or our opponents are better qualified to handle this problem."

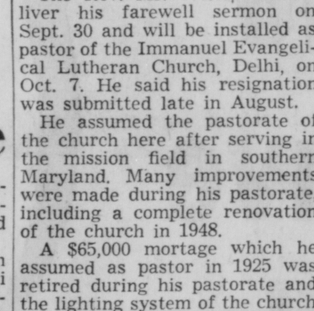

Democrats have complained that Nixon swung some low blows at them in the 1954 congressional campaign by insinuating their party was soft on communism.

Nixon assailed Stevenon's contention that the Eisenhower administration has been guilty of "misconduct and corruption."

"We'll be glad to compare the moral standards of the Eisenhower administration with those of the Truman administration," Nixon declared to Republican cheers.

Nixon described as the "height of political fakery and irresponsibility" what he said was Stevenson's suggestion "one day that we're losing the cold war

REV. ERNEST L. WITTE

Accepts Church Post in Delhi; Here 29 Years

Pastor of Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church, 24 Livingston street, for the past 29 years, the Rev. Ernest L. Witte annonced today he has resigned to become pastor of a church in Delhi.

The Rev. Mr. Witte will deliver his farewell sermon on Sept. 30 and will be installed as pastor of the Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church, Delhi, on Oct. 7. He said his resignation was submitted late in August.

He assumed the pastorate of the church here after serving in the mission field in southern Maryland. Many improvements were made during his pastorate, including a complete renovation of the church in 1948.

A $65,000 mortage which he assumed as pastor in 1925 was retired during his pastorate and the lighting system of the church was improved. The church celebrated its 85th anniversary in November, 1955.

The Rev. Mr. Witte was born

Sea Captain, 70, Gets to 15 Years In Widow's Death

Delhi, N. Y., Sept. 13 (AP)—Alex Hannus, 70, a retired sea captain, has been sentenced to 7½ to 15 years in prison after admitting guilt in the "Lonely Hearts" death of Mrs. Anna Duhamel, 60-year-old widow.

He pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of second-degree manslaughter. Delaware County Judge Walter L. Terry set the indeterminate sentence in Attica State Prison.

Defense Attorney Abraham S. Robinson of New York city said Hannus had become involved "in the sunset of his life."

Police have quoted Hannus as saying Mrs. Duhamel had approached him with a butcher knife at her farm home, where he had worked as a handyman, and that she died after he struck her in self-defense. The farm is in Handsome Hollow.

Hannus was originally charged with first-degree murder, but a grand jury at first indicted him only for burying her body without a permit, a health law violation for which the maximum penalty is a $50 fine. A reconvened grand jury indicted him last week on the manslaughter charge.

Police said Hannus had corresponded with Mrs. Duhamel from New York city before going to work for her.

Diversion Of Vessels Is Favored

Cairo Feels Eden Plan Means War

Washington, Sept. 13 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the United States has no intention of shooting its way through the Suez Canal if Egypt blocks the passage of ships.

Dulles told a news conference the United States would favor diverting its vessels around Africa under such conditions, regardless of the extra cost involved.

Will Grant Loans

He said the U. S. government is ready to consider dollar loans to friendly countries who might be unable to withstand such a financial burden.

At the same time, Dulles appealed to Egypt to reconsider its inital violent objection to a plan for setting up an association of Suez Canal users.

British Prime Minister Eden disclosed Britain, France and the United States would organize such an authority in a speech yesterday.

While Dulles meeting with reporters was still in progress, the Egyptian embassy announced that Egyptian Ambassador Ahmed Hussein had called on Dulles a few minutes earlier to give him "the urgent message that the scheme which Sir Anthony Eden wants to impose on Egypt is an open and flagrant aggression on Egyptian sovereignty and its implementation means war."

The embassy said the ambassador told Dulles:

"If the U. S. desires war then she may support this scheme but if her desire is to work for a peaceful solution, the scheme has to be abandoned."

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, confirmed later that Hussein had met with Dulles before the news conference. White said, however, the ambassador had left no written communication.

White said Dulles talked with Hussein along the lines the secretary laid out at his new conference.

Ike Backing Seen

Dulles' statement today apparently had the personal backing of President Eisenhower.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, told reporters at Eisenhower's Gettysburg, Pa., farm that the President had conferred on the Suez crisis with Dulles by telephone before Dulles' news conference. The President was resting at his farm today.

Hagerty announced too that Eisenhower will fly here tomorrow afternoon for a White House conference with Premier Robert Menzies of Australia. Menzies headed the commission which failed to reach agreement with Egypt's President Nasser in recent Suez discussions in Cairo.

Dulles made no reference at his news conference to Hussein's visit.

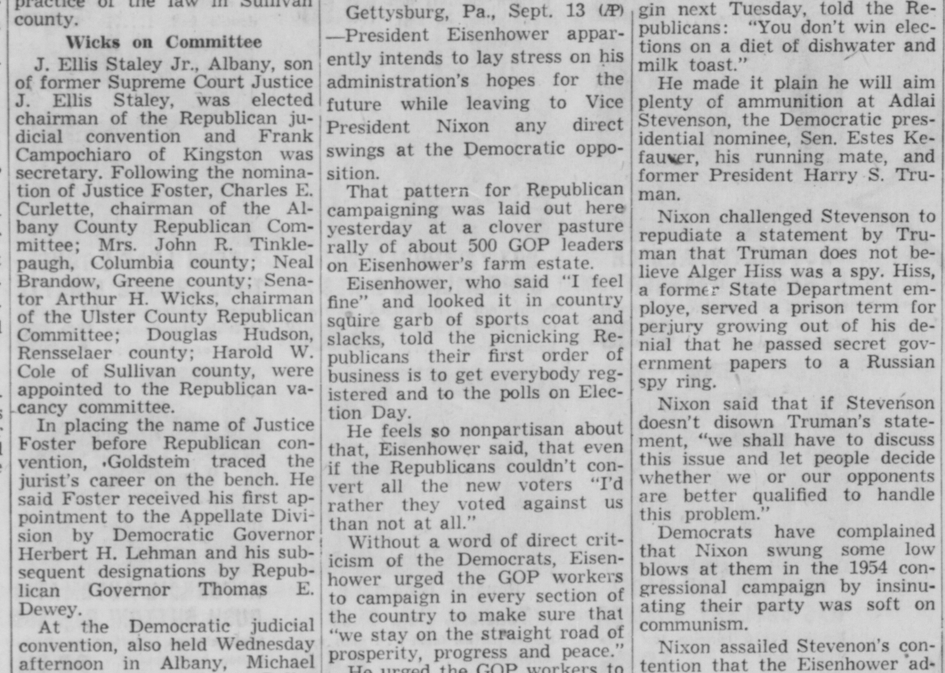

Will Go It Alone

In response to questions Dulles said he hopes other nations will join the Users' Association. But he said the United States would go it alone with Britain and France if necessary.

Dulles said repeatedly the United States is not seeking to provoke war by helping set up the new Suez association.

This, in effect, was the reply to Cairo denunciations of the

ADDRESSING CD MEETING—John Marquardt (standing) director of Civil Defense for the town of Woodstock, outlines the CD program before a meeting in the Woodstock School. Others at the speakers' table are (l-r) the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, pastor of Woodstock Reformed Church; Maj. H. Edgar Timmerman, director of Ulster Kingston Civil Defense Council; Dr. Dudley Hargrave, Ulster county health commissioner, and Supervisor Joseph Fitzsimmons of the Town of Woodstock. (Freeman photo)

A-Blast Damage Explained, Woodstock Plans Outlined

The terrible aftermath of atomic bomb attack was dramatically described by Dr. William M. Hitzig of New York and Bearsville, at the organizational meeting of Woodstock Civil Defense, Wednesday night at the Woodstock school.

Dr. Hitzig of Mt. Sinai Hospital, New York, who is best known for his work in bringing to this country a number of atomic-scarred Japanese girls for plastic surgery, was accompanied by one of the Japanese doctors, Dr. Fujii, and four of the young Japanese women, Mrs. Yokoyama, Suzue Oshima, Michiyo Zomen and Takako Harada. Dr. Fujii and Mrs. Yokoyama also spoke briefly.

A film was also shown concerning the activities of the 25 Japanese women who attended a picnic in honor of Dr. Hitzig's daughter Cayla's 19th birthday last summer at their Bearsville home.

Must Be Prepared

Jack Marquardt, Woodstock Civilian Defense director, explained the position of the town of Woodstock in event of an atom bomb attack, and also said that the community would have to be prepared to care for refugees from possibly New York or other cities.

Also on the speakers platform was Major H. Edgar Timmerman, director of the Ulster-Kingston Civil Defense Council. He said that for the public there are two questions: "What is being done?" and "What is Civilian Defense?" His answer to those

Social Security Benefits Listed For the Disabled

George J. Johnson, manager of Kingston Social Security office, discusses disability in connection with old-age and survivors insurance in this article.

Disability first came into the social security insurance picture in 1954. Until now, however, it was just a provision to protect the insurance rights of a worker who became totally disabled after a record of employment or self-employment covered by the law. There was no provision to start paying benefits to him after he was determined to be disabled for any further gainful work.

The 1956 amendments to the social security law change this. Beginning with July 1957, a disabled person, age 50 or over, may be eligible to start getting monthly social security insurance benefit payments. It is no longer necessary to wait until he reaches age 65 to have his retirement payments start, nor is it necessary for an insured woman worker to wait until she becomes 62, if she is disabled and has reached her 50th birthday.

The Requirements

To meet the requirements of this new provision in the law, you must be so severely disabled that you are not able to engage in any substantial work. If your disability is just a temporary condition—one that will not keep you out of work permanently, or for a long and indefinite period of time—you are not eligible for benefit payments. Or if your disability is a kind which just makes it necessary for you to slow down in work or work part time, you cannot qualify for monthly benefit payments. However, if your disability—either physical or mental—is long-continued, has lasted for at least six months, and there is little chance of recovery in the future, you may be eligible for monthly benefit payments. These payments, which can start at age 50, are the same as the amount of the old-age insurance benefit you would be entitled to if you were 65.

Bear this in mind: The first month for which cash disability payments can be made is July 1957. However, there will be no benefit payments for your dependents until you become entitled to old-age benefit payments at age 65 (or, in the case of a woman getting disability payments, at any time between age 62 and 65). Of course, receipt of disability benefits will not affect the payment of benefits to any of your eligible dependents in case you should die.

Work Requirements

The work requirements for disability insurance payments at age 50, are: Social security credit for 5 years of work in the 10 years before the established beginning date of your disability, and 1½ years of work in the 3 years before that date. Active military service at any time after September 15, 1940, and work in the railroad industry after 1936 can count toward the work requirements for disability insurance payments under certain conditions. However, if you are receiving another Federal disability benefit or a State or Federal workmen's compensation benefit for any month, the amount of your disability insurance benefit will be reduced by the amount of the other benefit for that month.

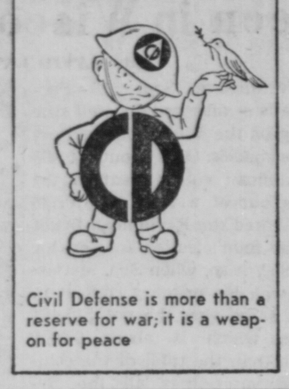

If you apply for disability insurance benefits, you will be referred to a State vocational rehabilitation agency which will consider you for services which may help you return to gainful work. Disability insurance payments will be withheld from you if you refuse without good cause to accept rehabilitation services that may be offered to you by your State Agency.

Contact Local Office

If you are now age 50 or over, have been in employment or self-employment covered by social security long enough to meet the above-stated requirements, are now disabled but have never applied for the "disability freeze" of your earnings record, you should get in touch with your social security office right away. If you have already had your earnings record "frozen," there is no hurry about applying for the benefits payable at age 50. The earliest time that applications for disability cash payments can be accepted is after October 1, 1956; the first month for which payments can be made is July 1957. You have until December 31, 1957, to make your application without losing any of the payments.

From what I have said, it is apparent that disability insurance has now become a part of the old-age and survivors insurance program. Under the amended law, disability benefits are payable also to children who became disabled before their 18th birthday. In my next article, I shall explain this important amendment to the Social Security Law.

Nursery Offering Two Sessions For Parent Choice

There will be a choice of morning or afternoon classes at the Jewish Community Center nursery, starting Monday, Sept. 17, it was announced today by Mrs. Herman Eaton, chairman of the project.

She said parents are invited to confer with the teacher, Miss Margaret Hoffay, at the center, 265 Wall street, prior to the opening date. The nursery will continue until the regular school year ends.

Miss Hoffay, a recent State Teacher's College graduate, has a complete program of arts, crafts, music, story telling, games, social skills, festival celebrations, and muscle development.

Modern equipment has been procured for indoor and outdoor sessions of the nursery, Mrs. Eaton said.

The Jewish Community Center is a member agency of the Kingston Area Community Chest, and its program is open to all members of the community, she stressed.

Inquiries about the classes may be made by a personal visit to the center, which is urged, or by telephone.

Old Bible

Hillsboro, Ohio (AP) — A 200-year-old Bible, the property of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Harris of nearby Mowrytown, apparently is the oldest hereabouts. It was shown at a contest to determine who owned the oldest Bible in the community.

TRUMAN STILL UNCONVINCED

It is more than six years since Alger Hiss was convicted on perjury charges growing out of his denials that he passed State Department secrets to the Communists. Yet former President Harry Truman still insists Hiss was not a Red spy.

Mr. Truman did not resurrect this bit of history. A newsman asked him about Hiss on a TV interview. His answer to the spy question was a categorical "no."

The query was not the kind the former President would be likely to duck. But his flat "no" is an insufficient reply. It needs supporting evidence, inasmuch as it goes directly counter to the firm findings of a federal court.

Admittedly Mr. Truman is not a lawyer. Nevertheless, even a layman must grasp that you must offer something solid if you want people to believe that a court misjudged a case.

Mr. Truman's problem is to find the means to refute evidence which satisfied the federal grand jury that brought down the Hiss indictment, and enabled U. S. attorneys to convince a popular jury that the charges were true.

What was that evidence?

Basically it consisted of documents in Hiss' handwriting or written on Hiss' home typewriter which set forth key details of State Department secrets. These papers were in the possession of Whittaker Chambers, confessed Communist courier.

Hiss only belatedly acknowledged knowing Chambers when the latter demonstrated conclusively that he had detailed information about the Hiss home and the Hiss way of life. Then he told congressional investigators Chambers had once rented a room at his place.

There was never any denial that Hiss wrote the handwritten notes Chambers produced in court. Hiss tried to suggest that these had not in fact been passed to Chambers but were stolen from his State Department desk. But he never showed plausibly how Chambers or another Red agent could have had access to that desk.

Even more decisive were the typewritten documents. It was not hard to prove they came from the Hiss typewriter. The government went further and showed that Mrs. Hiss did some of the typing. Her characteristic typing habits were revealed by comparison with other material she typed.

A jury might well have a nagging doubt about notes left on a State Department desk. But information deliberately typed at home by the defendant's wife could not be easily explained away. It never was.

One wonders what inquiries Mr. Truman has had under way these many years which now permit him to say flatly, in the face of this evidence, that Hiss was not a spy.

Unless he has something substantial to offer, he really ought to duck this one and keep to other topics in the fall campaigning.

WISDOM IN A TRADITION

It is well that President Eisenhower is continuing a tradition set by his predecessors, Presidents Roosevelt and Truman, to hand his campaign opponent secret foreign policy data for his guidance.

Mr. Roosevelt first resorted to this practice in 1944 when he faced the then Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York during World War II. The hope then was and now is to avoid any damage to this country's position which might stem from misinformation.

The White House has wisely made clear that in supplying this data it seeks in no way to deter Adlai Stevenson from criticizing U. S. foreign policy. Mr. Eisenhower stressed the same point when he accepted Mr. Truman's offer four years ago.

This arrangement is one of the clearest answers anyone could ask for on the question of the basic sense of patrotism which guides both major parties.

An old-fashioned college is one where a new president gets as much publicity as a new star halfback.

'These Days'

THE CAREERISTS

Politicians differ from statesmen and idealists in the techniques they employ to achieve their ends. A statesman is usually a person of broad vision, of deep insight, whose devotion is to his country, not to his own career. The idealist selects, rationally or emotionally, a concept of life to which he is willing not only to devote but to give his life.

Politicians usually take support wherever they can find it. Few politicians worry about the means they employ to achieve their careers. As one politician once put it to me: he said he is a humanitarian; he loves the entire human race without distinction, particularly those who have votes.

Back in my childhood, I used to see the politicians buy votes. The going price was two dollars. A father with three sons would try to get $10 if he could, but the politician preferred to give him eight. Whatever the district captain could save from buying votes, he pocketed. Therefore there was fierce bargaining. Tammany captains were much better than the Republicans, because they could do favors all the year round, like getting a license for a push-cart peddler, or getting citizenship papers for a newly-arrived immigrant, or getting a bad son off with a suspended sentence. They could get jobs, not only politician jobs but jobs for unskilled workers on street cars or digging the new subway. Therefore Tammany was regarded as the poor man's friend.

Today a politician can do much better than outright buying of votes. He attaches himself to pressure groups of which there are all kinds. Back in the 1930's and 1940's, in many areas, it paid the politicians to be liberals and to serve pressure groups on that side; in some states, it paid the politicians to be anti-Negro as in others it paid to be pro-Negro.

To most politicians, no great principles were involved. It was a matter of common sense. The elements to fear were those that were organized and as it was not good politics to fight them, the smartest thing to do was to join them. When it came to a question of money, it was, in those days, and in some places even today, sounder to get money from labor unions than from any other source. The racketeering labor leaders have been particularly easy on the dough, but most of it was paid off "under the table," which means in cash, no record being kept by the giver or the taker.

The Communists generally support politicians who are non-Communists but soft for certain kinds of sentimentalities upon which the Communists can play. The record shows that this was not a haphazard operation in the 1930's and 1940's but that special Communist Party officials were designated to discover individuals—careerists, they called them—whom they could make grateful and whom they could use for longer or shorter periods. The careerists were not expected to be grateful for too long a period, as it was anticipated that sooner or later they would find some reason for being grateful to somebody else, usually to a liberal millionaire who developed a private collection of politicians.

Sometimes it is very difficult to discern where a politician really belongs, but a clue can often be found by tracing down his press agent, euphemistically called a public relations counsel. It can at times be found that one such person is handling a number of people, millianaires-on-the-loose, careerist politicians, Republicans, Democrats, great public officials and even manufacturers and storekeepers. If the relationships are charted and studied carefully, a political complex is disclosed. It has even happened that the press agent plays a more significant political role than those who appear to be clients.

One problem that the careerist faces is that he might be embarrassed when there is a conflict of interest among his supporters. The Communists, for instance, have ruined more than one career by letting a man's connection with them leak out. But they do not make false claims because they realize that everything is subject to check.

Some day Americans will ask for a better grade of politicians, not quite for statesmen of whom there are too few and not quite for idealists who are very scarce indeed. But they will ask for a politician who makes his career in some other way than by association with pressure groups.

That Body of Yours

TUBERCULOSIS IS STILL A PROBLEM

During the past ten years there have been remarkable advances in the treatment of tuberculosis. With the discovery of streptomycin began an era of antituberculosis therapy (treatment) characterized by the development of new drugs faster than physicians could learn to use the old ones properly. As a result the pythisiologist (specialist in tuberculosis and kindred ailments) today has available half a dozen highly effective drugs from which to choose the combination most suitable for each patient.

To this have been added refinements in surgery, particularly chest surgery, making it frequently possible to remove surgically that disease which cannot be cured medically.

As a result, the death rate from tuberculosis has declined sharply in the United States and Canada to the lowest figures ever recorded. This gratifying accomplishment has given rise to an unwarranted optimism that at long last tuberculosis has been controlled and is no longer a serious problem. Further consideration of the problem indicates that this is not true and suggests that the death rate is no longer an adequate yardstick for the problem of tuberculosis, just as the death rate would be a poor index by which to measure the problem of the common cold or hay fever, to mention only a couple of common diseases.

The new case rate is a much more valid measurement of the tuberculosis problem and the figures for the United States as a whole showed more than 100,000 new cases in 1953, thus showing that tuberculosis is not yet controlled and will be a significant medical problem for years to come. Each newly discovered patient with tuberculosis should have special antituberculosis treatment without delay and this can only be done when the diagnosis of tuberculosis is established promptly and the proper treatment begun at once.

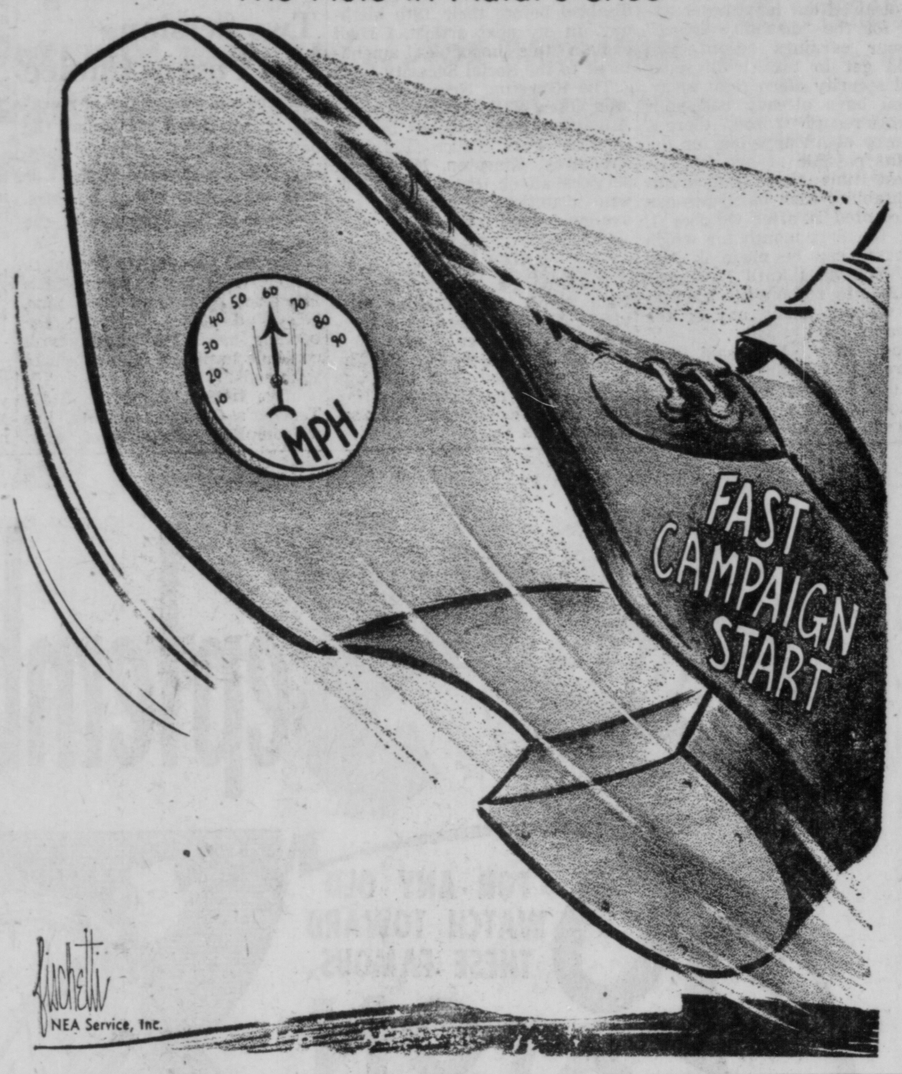

The most reliable bacteriologic test is the one which shows that the sputum (or other suspected material) can produce tuberculosis in guinea pigs. Many hospitals are now making routine chest X-rays on all patients admitted. In one general hospital, averaging ten thousand admissions per year, during one year 10 unrecognized cases of active tuberculosis, 200 cases of reinfection type of tuberculosis, 17 chest tumors, and 212 heart and blood vessel abnormalities were discovered by this procedure.

Dr. Bruce Douglass in "Postgraduate Medicine," says that it is the responsibility of the physician to assemble all available information to make his diagnosis and also to be certain that for their special studies his colleagues in bacteriology and X-ray are provided with adequate material. If the data available does not fit into the pattern of tuberculosis, he must inquire further. Was the tuberculin test complete? Were the X-rays adequate? Should further material be sent to the laboratory?

We must not lose sight of the value of the mass X-ray survey. About 8.5 per cent of the entire population of the United States has been examined annually during the five years from 1946 to 1950. It is amazing to realize that almost one per cent of those so examined had X-rays which indicated the presence of active tuberculosis of the lungs.

The Hole in Adlai's Shoe

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington (NEA)—Photographers who will cover the political campaigns rate presidential and vice presidential candidates as picture subjects like this:

Eisenhower — Produces good expressions. Is cooperative. But he tends to hurry photographers.

Stevenson — Sometimes extremely cooperative. Sometimes a little impatient. Usually jokes them into hurrying. Generally a good subject for producing action.

Nixon—Used to be most cooperative photo subject of all public figures. But in the last few months he has become a little touchy on how his picture is taken.

Kefauver—Will hold still for shots as long as photographers ask him to. But it's hard to get good expressions and animation from him. Poker-faced except for his big, toothy smile. Glasses also make him hard to photograph.

THE SIZE OF this year's popular vote has political dopesters scratching their pencils.

The total voting-age population will be around 104 million. This is up more than four million from 1952, when only 60 million turned out to vote. In 1948 the total vote was under 50 million. A 10-million vote increase over 1952 is not considered likely this year. In spite of all the "Get Out the Vote" campaigns, signs now point to an increase in the number of stay-at-homes.

ANYONE BOTHERED about how much money to give to his favorite political party this year can get all kinds of advice.

AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education is trying to get a buck apiece from its 15 million members, and will be doing well if 20 per cent of the membership kicks in.

Democratic National Committee Chairman Paul Butler says, "If we could get $7 each from a million people, we'd have the seven million dollars we will need to finance our campaign."

U. S. Chamber of Commerce magazine, "Nation's Business," has a couple of more complicated formulas for fatter cats.

It quotes one unnamed industrial leader who expects his junior executives to give three-fourths of one per cent of salary, middle group to give one per cent and top bracket big shots to give one and a quarter per cent.

That would be $45 to $75 for a $6,000-to-$10,000 man, $200 for a $20,000 man, $375 to $625 for $30,000-to-$50,000 men.

Rep. John M. Vorys (R-Ohio) says a fair formula would be five per cent of last year's income taxes. This would be $25 on every $500 of income taxes paid, $50 on each $1,000.

All these figures are of course way under the Hatch Act legal limit of $5,000 contributed by any individual to any one political organization or candidate for office.

COMPARISON OF the voting records of Richard M. Nixon and Estes Kefauver when they were both U. S. senators gives one size-up on these candidates.

Kefauver voted for and Nixon against these issues:

Federal grants to aid medical school education; public housing program of 45,000 units (Nixon favored 5,000); 1951 amendments to the Taft-Hartley labor act; federal regulation of natural gas prices.

Nixon voted for and Kefauver against these issues:

Return of tidelands oil rights to the states; Jenner amendment to publish state public assistance rolls.

Both men voted for abolition of the poll tax, Alaska statehood and St. Lawrence Seaway.

On some 1952 issues, Kefauver was absent campaigning. Since 1953, Vice President Nixon has voted only to break ties.

AIR TRANSPORT Association officials expect this to be the most airborne campaign ever. Four years ago the presidential and vice presidential candidates flew a total of 168,000 miles. ATA estimates this will be greatly increased this year by more "hedge-hopping" by air, to replace the slower "whistle-stopping."

President Eisenhower himself will decide when a trip of his is "political" or "nonpolitical." When it's political, Republican National Committee foots the bill. Air Force and White House don't reveal what the government charges for a campaign trip in Columbine III, the President's private plane. The report is it's $100 an hour, which is lower than charter fees for similar private aircraft.

CONSERVATIVE groups are now sounding the alarm that the liberalized physical disability payments and reduced retirement age for working women, authorized by the last Congress, will "open the door to socialized medicine."

Committee for Constitutional Government has put out three letters decrying these and other new social security act amendments. These mailing pieces criticize President Eisenhower for signing these Democratic party amendments after Secy. of Health, Education and Welfare Marion B. Folsom had opposed them for the administration.

One important factor was that in an election year, it would have been highly unpopular, politically, to veto them.

A. J. HAYES, president of the strong International Association of Machinists—whose union held its convention in San Francisco right after the Republicans moved out of town—left the door open for formation of a third (labor) party at some indefinite time in the future.

Hayes defined the two major political parties today as "not policy-making organizations, but rather meditation groups, each seeking to compromise a wide variety of opinions. . . . Party platforms are not binding on anyone. They are hopes for some, vote-getting devices for others.

"Right now the labor movement is not contemplating the establishment of a third party," Hayes declared. But then he added that, "We do not agree with the concept that only a two-party system will best serve the interests of our country.

"As a matter of fact, third parties, while seldom successful in achieving major victories, have a profound influence on the development of the nation's economic and political structure."

Factionalism and Apathy Seen in Wisconsin Voting

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 13—Factionalism and apathy tell the story of the Wisconsin senatorial primaries. Only about 450,000 Republican voters went to the polls out of a total of 870,444 who voted the Republican ticket in the final election for senator in 1952. Also, when Sen. McCarthy won his primary contest in that same year, he got 515,481 votes, which is about 65,000 more than the total of the combined votes that all the Republican candidates got this year.

This year's low vote happened in spite of the fact that there was a deep-seated cleavage of viewpoints between Sen. Wiley and Rep. Glenn Davis — both well-known Republicans.

President Eisenhower stayed out of the fight, and so did Sen. McCarthy. But the issues that were emphasized on the stump were national in character and carry with them international significance.

Education Needed

Wisconsin is a state which for a long time has contained a substantial majority in favor of staying out of foreign wars and foreign entanglements. Today it may be said that there is a majority in the state in favor of cutting down foreign aid. If the election this week teaches a lesson, it is that education on the broad aspects of international policy is very much needed and that continued aid to countries which are turning their backs on the United States doesn't sit well with the voters.

To say this is not to describe the position of Sen. Wiley, the victor in the contest for renomination, as favoring unlimited aid abroad or entanglement in foreign wars. The debate nevertheless is a clear example of what some of the voters believe can be the result if present policies are not qualified or at least given jhstification by facts not hitherto available. In short, while the Eastern seaboard accusation that the Middle West is "isolationist" is overdrawn, the truth is the people in Wisconsin and near-by states just don't like to see money poured out to other parts of the world on the vague and intangible basis that so many starry-eyed Republicans and Democrats advocate—to "win men's minds and hearts." What is understood clearly is money spent abroad for security and for defense—but not for questionable boondoggles.

Upheld Administrations

Sen. Wiley was very friendly to the international-co-operation policies of the Truman administrations when he was the ranking member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Some Wisconsin people thought he went overboard on that issue. But when he became chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, he upheld the Eisenhower administration's foreign policies faithfully. He, therefore, was able to count on the Ike following in the state, though he alienated the other group which had been off the reservation because of the brusque way the Administration had treated McCarthy.

When the showdown came, a third candidate entered the field, Howard Boyle, who favored repudiation of the Administration's foreign policies and particularly wanted to see a substantial reduction made in the amount spent by the United States for foreign aid. When Mr. Boyle's votes are added to the Davis votes, the total exceeds Sen. Wiley's vote by about 8,500. This shows a majority of Wisconsin Republicans who have some real criticism of the Administration's willingness to spend large sums abroad. The same division probably prevails inside the Democratic party.

Conflicts in Personalities

Like all local contests, there were in the Republican Senatorial race conflicts in personalities and many votes undoubtedly were influenced by those considerations. Sen. Wiley is a widely respected man of high ideals and principles, and it is to his credit that he stuck by his convictions notwithstanding the temptations of expediency which presented themselves. His job now will be to win the support of those who voted for Rep. Davis and Mr. Boyle. The Democrats, however, cannot take much comfort out of the situation because these voters are not likely to cross over to the Democratic side.

The danger that exists is among the stay-at-home voters who, by deliberately absenting themselves from the polls, express a form of protest.

As for the Eisenhower prospects in the state, there is nothing in the primary returns themselves which would indicate anything of a trend on the Presidential situation. It was largely a local contest.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Los Angeles, Sept. 12—This will be the first of two success stories dealing with the rise to riches of two eminent bosses of the mighty and predatory Teamsters' Union. They are Frank Brewster and John J. Sweeney, both of Seattle, president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, of the Western Conference of Teamsters and partners in two or more of the most prosperous stables on the tracks of California and Washington. They have jurisdiction over eleven states.

In the 1955 season, their chief stable, with the poetic and roguish name of Needmore, won $95,482 in purses. Their trainer bears the fascinating name of Noble Threewitt. His association with the millionaire unioneers is merely a professional engagement of no ulterior significance. The Trinity stable of which Brewster and Sweeney own two-thirds, won $32,425. The Breel stable won $30,775. "Breel" is compounded of the names of Brewster and George Newell, also of Seattle, co-owner of Breel. He is an insurance agent who wrote a vast amount of welfare and pension business for the union. Brewster also owns shares in other stables including one called Clearbrook.

His status as a "turfman" and sub-boss of the Teamsters' empire, subordinate to President Dave Beck, is so familiar to the western public that the contrast between the conventional figure of the labor-leader and the rich patron of the sport of kings faded long ago. Both Brewster and Sweeney have raced on the tracks of California and Washington State under the eyes of their subjects for many years. They have union jurisdiction over most of the track employes. The drivers who carry the horses in vans, the bus-drivers, the parking lot attendants, the water-wagon drivers, and the turnstile men all are compelled to maintain membership in the union, paying dues, assessments and premiums on their "welfare" insurance.

On May 22, 1947, Brewster called a meeting of the grooms in the cafeteria of Hollywood Park and made a speech exhorting them to join up. About 200 swipes attended. The racing board took a report on the meeting now filed in the official records. Grooms are mostly transients and few of them were persuaded that Brewster's union could confer benefits in return for their fees and dues. The local did not come into being.

As far as his conduct on the turf is concerned, Brewster's only recorded blemish is a fine of $50 imposed at the Longacres track in Seattle on July 18, 1953, for "creating a disturbance." This is interesting because he once was a member of the Washington Racing Commission. His relations with internal revenue concerning his income taxes have been more important and exciting. He was turned up in spectacular "welfare" deals by the old Hoffman committee of the House of Representatives during the investigation of union pension funds. Congressman Clare Hoffman of Michigan, a Republican, pioneered this field in 1953 and a grand expose was about to explode when the White House muzzled Hoffman to help Senator Homer Ferguson, of Michigan, in his fight against the massed financial power of the CIO in the election.

Hoffman already had dug up the mysterious and mighty James Hoffa, of Detroit and Chicago, a millionaire union magnate of the teamsters' empire, but suddenly was silenced. Beck and Hoffa then turned to and strove mightily for Ferguson but all in vain. Ferguson lost anyway. So Eisenhower gave Homer an interim appointment as ambassador to the Philippines. Later Ike planted him in a soft job for life on a special U. S. Court of Military Appeals at the highest salary he ever drew.

Brewster's stable varies. The Needmore string has run from 20 head down to six. A Needmore filly named "She's Quick" has been vaguely appraised at $50,000 and the bunch is now regarded as $100,000 worth. The working teamster, driving a freighter over the western mountains, a very dangerous occupation, gets less than $100 a week and few of them get many full weeks of work.

Brewster has been racing in California since 1937. His original application for a license named Beck as a sponsor. Another sponsor in the same application was John C. Stevenson, of Los Angeles, a lawyer for the union with offices in the teamsters' building.

Lonely Chickens

Covington, Okla. (AP)—A banty rooster owned by Emil Mackey has given up ruling the roost—he's sitting on the nest. Mackey said when the banty's mate started a family recently, the rooster promptly moved onto the nest, He says the chickens sit on the nest together. The owner attributes the un-rooster like behavior to a bad case of loneliness. The two chickens are the only ones on a 20-acre farm.

Celebration Home Is Erected in Woodstock Area

The 100,000th celebration home, which arrived in Woodstock on Wednesday, was sent by National Homes in recognition of the outstanding sales success of Ulster Homes, Inc., the company's builder-dealer in the area.

Since the beginning of IBM operations in this area, Ulster Homes has built about 300 "National" homes in attractive price ranges.

"We are glad to have this opportunity, on the occasion of our 100,000th National home, to recognize the important part Ulster Homes, Inc., is playing as a member of the most successful home building organization in history," James R. Price, president of National Homes, advised its local-builder dealer.

The celebration home was erected in Woodstock Gardens, which has been developed by Ulster Homes, Inc., and will be completed and ready for the new owners, the Brett family, to move in within about three weeks, it was reported.

The Erie and Kalamazoo, completed in 1836, was the first railroad west of the Alleghenies.

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

A good variety of meats—except beef—will be featured on the bargain lists of many stores this weekend.

Normally, with most vacations over and the kids back in school, supermarkets turn from the chickens and other summer items to roasts at this time of year. With beef selling at a premium, however, chuck roast, beef tongue and beef liver are just about the only beef items at popular prices.

Higher Beef Prices

One large national chain reported sirloin steaks were up from 2 to 10 cents virtually everywhere, with rib roasts up from 2 to 6 cents in many places. Another supermarket man pegged the price of beef at 1½ cents above a year ago and said gloomily it would probably be higher next week.

The high prices reflect last month's high wholesale prices.

What will be offered to the nation's housewives then, in big print and small prices?

Hams, legs of lamb, lamb chops, turkeys and chickens—fryers, broilers and cut-up parts—will be most common. Such items as pork chops, pork sausage and frankfurters will be pushed in a few areas.

Pork Coming Down

Pork prices are expected to go down in the weeks ahead, but housewives looking for a repeat performance of last winter's pork super bargains will be disappointed. The spring pig crop, which provides the nation with pork during the second half of the year, was 8 per cent below its 1955 level, so prices are not expected to go down as much as last year.

Among the vegetables, corn, lettuce and such greens as spinach, endive and escarole are all rated outstanding buys by produce men. Cabbage, which has been unusually low priced for some time, was reported as slightly higher in some sections this week, but still a good buy.

Beans of all kinds also are moderately priced, along with cauliflower, potatoes and tomatoes. Tomatoes are higher in some sections, and squash jumped upwards in price except for those areas where it is available from local farms.

Prunes Are Good Buy

Prunes, at the peak of their season, are reported the best buy among the fruits, although seedless grapes also are low priced. Limes and lemons, especially the former, are plentiful and inexpensive in most areas, but oranges are not expected to reach the bargain level for a while yet.

Most varieties of peaches are near the end of their seasons, and therefore are getting more expensive. Apples, on the other hand, are reported still fairly high, but will get cheaper every week from now on.

Flood Repair Job In Olive Approved

A $1,901.53 flood damage repair project in the town of Olive was one of 18 approved for state aid under provisions of the $1,500,000 Emergency Flood Repair Bill, it was announced today by John W. Johnson, state superintendent of public works.

The amount approved is for repairs to North Bushkill bridge, Route 28A, Department of Water Supply, New York city.

Up to the present time 217 projects have been approved in 14 counties.

The latest 18 projects, located in the counties of Greene, Orange, Putnam, Sullivan, Westchester and Ulster, will involve a total of $261,707.28 in state aid.

The Emergency Flood Bill was designed to give state assistance to communities for replacement in kind of public factilities which were damaged in the floods of August and October, 1955.

Full Impact of Nominations For Senate Coming in 1958

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 13 (AP)—The full political impact of the senatorial nominations given this week to Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits and New York city's Mayor Robert F. Wagner may not be felt until 1958.

The political fates of Javits, the Republican nominee, and Wagner, his Democratic opponent, are linked firmly with the ambitions of more powerful men within their parties.

Javits' future undoubtedly has been—and will be—influenced by Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck's yearning to be governor. Wagner's career has been affected vitally by Adlai Stevenson's longing to be president. And, by desire of such men as Sen. Herbert H. Lehman to see Stevenson elected.

Heck Banks on 1958

The Javits situation shapes up this way:

Heck, who does not conceal his gubernatorial aspirations, is girding for an all-out bid for the 1958 GOP nomination. After 20 years in the speaker's chair, after watching Thomas E. Dewey and then Irving M. Ives head the party ticket, Heck figures it's 1958 or never for him.

Javits has been regarded as a potential rival for the gubernatorial nomination. But Heck supported him actively for the Senate nomination. Why?

Maybe because, as Heck says, Javits is the strongest GOP contender. But some point out that this could be one way of getting Javits out of the picture in 1958.

A defeat would cripple Javits' chances of running for governor. A victory might boost his stock. But at least Javits would be away much of the time in Washington.

Careful With Career

As for Wagner:

The mayor openly admits a long-standing ambition to follow his father into the U. S. Senate. He has shaped his political career carefully, waiting for the most opportune time to strike directly toward that goal.

When Sen. Herbert H. Lehman announced his decision to retire, Wagner at first said he would rather not run. It was understood that Wagner did not consider this the opportune time, in a year when President Eisenhower would be heading the Republican ticket. Might be better to wait until 1958, when Sen. Ives' term expires.

Yielded Under Pressure

Wagner denied that fear of losing in an Eisenhower year had influenced his attitude. But he yielded only under heavy pressure from Stevenson, Gov. Harriman and other top Democratic leaders.

The big argument was that the Wagner name was needed to help Stevenson in his bid for New York state's 45 electoral votes.

It was reported—but not confirmed—that Wagner was promised another nomination in 1958, if he lost this time.

Thus, the implications of Javits' and Wagner's nominations reach beyond this year, through 1956 and into 1958.

The big questions become: Will Javits be in a position to bid for the governorship two years from now? And will Wagner, if defeated, win another Senate nomination?

Partial answers to these questions may be evident after the November balloting. But the full story may not be told until 1958.

Iowa Headhunters

Davenport, Iowa (AP)—Mrs. A. G. Glantz complained to police that a gang of headhunters apparently is operating in Davenport. She said someone stole a head from her yard—off a small statue. Mrs. Glantz estimated the damage at $15.

Lee Opposes Write-in

Salt Lake City, Sept. 13 (AP)—Gov. J. Bracken Lee says "if you know anybody who wants a man of my age for a job, why I'm open," now that his bid for a third term has been rejected. But Lee, 57, says he "would not encourage" a move to re-elect him via write-in campaign. "I just don't think a thing like that would be successful," he said in an interview last night after his defeat in Utah's Republican primary Tuesday by political newcomer George D. Clyde.

Glad For Home Aid

Editor, The Freeman:—

I'd like to express an opinion I have in regard to the ad in your paper recently on the TVA and signed by Central Hudson.

It says we New Yorkers Shelled out $291,000,000 to provide people in a distant group of states with all kinds of services (including below cost electricity —unquote).

Well, that's good to hear. We've been paying taxes and really wondering who gets the benefit of them. We hear a lot about our money going to foreign aid programs, to paying for the past three wars to needed and unneeded projects galore.

It's good to hear that some of it went to the TVA area and did those poor farmers there some real good. I'm in favor of it and I'll bet lots of people think it's a fine idea for Americans to help each other.

Unfortunately, they don't take ads in papers to express their approval. Maybe you'll print my letter and they will know someone agrees with them, too.

Signed,
IDA WEINSTEIN,
20 Florence street

Old-Fashioned PunishmentGiven For False Alarm

An eight-year-old boy charged with sounding a false fire alarm last night received "an old-fashioned licking" from his father, local police noted.

The alarm was sounded at 6:17 p. m., from Box 5211, Smith avenue and O'Neil street, near School No. 6, and drew out men and equipment from Central and Wiltwyck stations, Wicks Engine Co., and Excelsior Hose Company.

Officers Thomas McGrane and Myer Levy were dispatched to the area, reported that the boy had been caught, and met with the pay-off from his father.

An alarm from Box 2311, Hasbrouck avenue and Murray street at 10:50 a. m., today was for burning gasoline resulting from the flooding of a motorcycle owned by Robert Buboltz, of 64 East Pierpont street, on that street. Central and Cornell station, Union Hose Company and Wicks Engine Company responded.

Chemist Is Held As Witness in Teacher's Death

New York, Sept 13 (AP)—A 34-year-old chemist is being held as a material witness in the mysterious death of a pretty school teacher, who apparently died of cyanide poisoning.

A judge yesterday ordered Hugo Seinfeld held in $25,000 bail following the finding of the body of 25-year-old Avis Gray in a Riverside Drive hotel room.

The girl, fully clothed, lay sprawled on a bed. On the floor lay an empty champagne goblet. Champagne and another goblet lay on a table nearby.

Seinfeld, an Israeli citizen and a doctor of chemistry, told police of arranging a hotel rendezvous as a "farewell date" in their romance.

Seinfeld met Miss Gray in Istanbul, Turkey, where she taught English for two years at the American College for Girls.

The couple became "engaged," then the girl broke it off when she learned Seinfeld had a wife and three children living in Israel—according to the young woman's mother, Dr. Sarah Gray, a dental clinic supervisor for the city department of health.

such confusion amongst law officers."

Attorneys Francis Martocci and Robert Ortale of Kingston represented the Daley group before Judge Schirick this morning. William Pearse of Beacon argued in behalf of Stickel, a former secretary-treasurer of the local, and Masiello, a former president.

Mr. Martocci said in his arguments that the Daley group had met with obstructive tactics on every hand and had been unable to obtain the assistance of Yonkers police authorities in enforcing orders of the court.

He said the defendants had refused to turn over books, records, keys to the welfare office at Yonkers headquarters and the combination to the safe.

Appeals to Harriman

Battle for control of the Yonkers office flared Tuesday and Wednesday and Mr. Martocci sent a telegram to Gov. Harriman asking help in keeping order and to see that a court order granting control to the Daley faction was recognized by Yonkers police authorities.

Daniel Gutman, counsel to the Governor, dispatched two state policemen to the scene.

On Tuesday the Masiello-Stickels faction got a partial stay from Justice Francis Bergan in an effort to regain possession of the offices of the local but this stay was vacated by the Appellate Division.

Javits Opens Drive

New York, Sept. 13 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits, Republican senatorial nominee, said today he believed the fundamental issue of the election campaign was which party could "do the best job for the people of the state of New York. "An overriding issue is the issue of peace," he added at a news conference heralding the start of his campaign for election. Javits' Democratic opponent for the Senate seat being vacated by Sen. Herbert H. Lehman is Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York city. Javits said he would campaign intensively in "all areas of the state," frequently using planes to save time. He said he would "endeavor to carry on my responsibilities as attorney to the full," interrupting his campaigning when necessary to handle business in his office.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 13 (AP)—The stock market shied away from an early advance and became mixed early this afternoon.

Leading issue fluctuated from fractions to around a point or so. Trading was very quiet after a fairly active start.

Earlier, however, pivotal issues had risen as much as 2 or 3 points as steels, aircrafts and some oils advanced.

These gains were cut to the bone in the case of leading steels and aircrafts. International oils, with interests in the Middle East, had their gains trimmed but some still remained ahead by a point or more.

Jurors Hear Campers

John Weekly and David Wood of Kingston, who attended the conservation camp at Debruce under the sponsorship of the Association of Grand Jurors of Ulster County, spoke before the association at its meeting Monday evening, telling of their experiences. The meeting of the association was presided over by President Thomas J. Murphy.

Cub Pack Meeting

Woodstock, Sept. 13 — There will be a meeting of Cub Pack 34, tonight at the Woodstock School at 7:30 o'clock. All parents of Cub Scouts and those wishing to become Cubs are urged to attend with their boys. There is at present an urgent need for den mothers to participate in the program.

A-Blast Damage

questions was that they have been discussed in papers on radio and television. There have been tons of literature and it has also been brought up in service clubs and churches.

Would Have Supplies

He went on to explain that every citizen should have a check list of supplies necessary in the event of an emergency, in their own home. With an atom bomb comes radio activity and special preparation should be made. He predicted that the New York Thruway after an attack could become a four lane highway in the matter of minutes with traffic. The influx of people would throw a definite strain on sanitation, water supplies, police, fire and medical facilities. Those who arrive here would be the wounded, the hysterical and the panic stricken."

Must Take Cover

Major Timmerman said that it was the fervent hope that such an event would never happen, but if it should, people must be prepared to spend at least nine days undercover to escape radioactivity.

The possibility of atomic attack in Woodstock, Kingston or Ulster county would be remote, he said, but the radio active fog would travel two to three hundred miles from where the bomb would hit.

Major Timmer urged his audience of over 100 residents to support government officials in the appropriation of money for civilian defense.

Also attending the meeting were Dr. Dudley Hargrave, Ulster County Commissioner of Public Health. He spoke of his position which will require the turning of schools and factories into emergency hospitals.

Dr. Hargrave presented arm bands and Civilian Defense cards to the following members of the last medical aid class: Mrs. Dorothy Haeussler, Amy C. Fuller, Marion Gardner, Helen Englein, both of Malden; Edna Weigelt, Barbara Smith, Audrey Gordon, Hazel Stoutenberg, Daisy Smith and Hazel Wilbur.

Highland Man Held on Traffic, DisorderlyCharge

Anthony Alessi, 21, of Highland, was arrested last night on charges of operating a vehicle at an "endangering rate of speed," and disorderly conduct.

A police report at 11 p. m., said Alessi was arrested on Broadway near Meadow street by Officer Sheldon O'Rourke on the first charge, and was booked on the disorderly conduct charge at police headquarters by Sgt. Thomas Tomshaw, for alleged contrary action there.

City Judge Raymond Mino today imposed a fine of $20 on the endangering speed charge, and disposition of the other was put over until Saturday.

Rocco Sorbello, 21, of Ruby, was arrested at 10:55 p. m., by officers Gilbert Gray and Everett Emmick on Washington avenue near North Front street on a charge of driving without an operator's license. He was fined $10 in city court.

Albert John Miller, 17, of Route 2, Box 256, West Saugerties, who was arrested Monday on Albany avenue extension on a charge of driving without a license, was fined $10 today.

Zsa Zsa Dazzles Revue

Las Vegas, Nev., Sept. 13 (AP) —Zsa Zsa Gabor opened in a revue here last night wearing a gown that a local critic said made Marlene Dietrich's famed creation of two years ago "look like a bulky overcoat." Miss Gabor's dress, reputed to cost $17,000, featured an extremely low cut neckline which is revealed at the end of a modified strip tease act she performs. Miss Dietrich's eyebrow-raising gown which startled night clubbers here in 1954, was renowned for its semi-transparent bodice.

No Opposition Given To Saturday Closing

A public hearing conducted in the Common Council chamber last night by Mayor Frederick H. Stang on a local law that will permit the closing of city offices on Saturdays, opened and ended without objections.

Ten persons, mostly city employes, attended the session.

The law provides that city offices and departments, excepting the police and fire departments and city laboratory, will remain closed on Saturdays, but they will remain open until 6 p. m. on Mondays. It becomes effective immediately and the offices will close for the first time Saturday.

The Common Council recently voted in favor of the law. Public hearings on such measures are held after council action and before the mayor affixes his signature.

Minority members of the council, who were not wholly in favor of the Saturday closing, said they would ask for repeal of the law, if it is not found satisfactory to the public.

and the next day that we might get rid of the draft."

Eisenhower made no mention of these attacks on the Democrats. But he praised Nixon warmly.

"There is no man in history who has such a careful preparation as has Vice President Nixon for carrying out the duties of the presidency, if that duty should ever fall upon him," Eisenhower said.

Nixon's tactics seemd to have general approval from the Republicans, some of whom showed signs of concern about November in the light of this week's GOP setback in Maine. Eisenhower himself said in jest that Maine is "a bad word" for the Republicans politically.

Sen. James Duff of Pennsylvania, who introduced Eisenhower, said he thinks GOP campaigners will have to "get tough" with the Democrats if they expect to win.

Dulles also said he could not recall that Eden ever had said Britain intends to shoot its way through the canal, if Egypt tries to stop British vessels from going through.

Dulles Sees Violation

If Egypt refuses to allow vessels through, Dulles said, it would be in clear violation of the 1888 convention which promised access by all ships to the canal in peace and war.

It would be up to each country to decide what to do in such a case, Dulles said.

If Egypt halted any ships, he said, members which signed this 1888 convention would be free to take steps through the United Nations or take what Dulles called other appropriate action under the circumstances.

Action Not Defined

Dulles declined to spell out what he meant by other action. He said that if the questioner told him what the circumstances were at that time he could tell him what the appropriate action might be.

Trade, Technical Teaching Courses Are Announced

The New York State Department of Education will accept a limited number of men and women into its program for preparing teachers of trade and technical subjects, it was announced today by Hubert Hoderath, director of vocational education at Kingston High School.

Classes will begin in Newburgh October 1 and will be held from 6 to 8 and 8 to 10 p. m one night a week.

The program of preparation may be completed while remaining in present employment. There are no tuition costs to those who qualify.

The preparation leads to teaching positions in public industrial and technical schools, Mr. Hoderath said, since the need for additional teachers is continuous, both in eastern New York and other areas of the state.

Salaries for these positions have been increased recently and the present salary schedules are quite attractive, he said. Positions are permanent and include retirement provisions.

Applicants for teaching trade subjects must be under 40 years of age. They must be high school graduates (or equivalent) and have a minimum of five years experience in the occupation to be taught.

Applicants for teaching technical subjects must hold a degree in engineering, architecture or art, or an equivalent degree, and possess at least three years of experience in a technical occupation.

Applicants to teach some of the following trade and technical subjects are especially needed: Beauty culture (women); bricklaying; cosmetology (women); electrical trades; engineering (mechanical, electrical, civil, architectural); plumbing; photography; printing; tailoring or men's garment making; television service and repairs; watch and clock repairing; welding and other trades and technical occupations.

Further information and application forms can be secured by visiting, telephoning, or writing Mr. Hoderath at Kingston High School.

Car Almost Hit Plane

New York, Sept. 13 (AP)—A 45-year-old butcher was arrested early today at LaGuardia Field and accused of driving his car onto a runway and nearly colliding with an incoming DC6 airliner. Police said the car operated by John A. Heckenblaickner of (45-46 44th street) Sunnyside, Queens, almost hit the left outboard engine propeller of a four-engine United Airlines plane arriving from Chicago via Philadelphia with seven passengers and a crew of four. The pilot, Capt. Wayne Jolin, said his plane was doing 120 miles per hour when it touched down on the runway. Jolin had cut his speed to about 80 m.p.h. by the time he saw the sedan coming up the runway toward him.

Musicians Can't Play and Invest

New York, Sept. 13 (AP)—An American Federation of Musicians local has ruled that after Oct. 15 union musicians in New York city cannot invest in any Broadway show with which they are actively connected.

The rule was adopted yesterday during an executive board meeting of the AFM's big Local 802.

Al Manuti, local president, said the action was aimed at the "small chiseler" or "Johnny-Come-Lately" producers who require musicians to buy into a show in order to get a job with it.

The rule specifically lists instrumentalists, conductors, leaders, contractors, personnel managers, arrangers, copyists and librarians.

The law will not apply to shows now running and will not be retroactive to the current ruling.

Britain Blames Israel for New Frontier Deaths

London, Sept. 13 (AP)—Britain today blamed Israel for a frontier incident in which 19 Jordanians were killed and three wounded in a new flareup of fighting.

The foreign office said preliminary reports from British sources in the area "show that the incident represents a violation by Israel of recent assurances given to the Secretary General of the United Nations that the Palestine cease-fire will be respected."

A foreign office spokesman, reading from a prepared statement at a daily news conference, added this comment:

"Her Majesty's government must accordingly express their approval."

The spokesman indicated the fighting was on the Jordan side of the frontier and said the incident will be investigated by the UN armistice supervision authorities.

The Jordan government already has lodged a complaint with the armistice commission, claiming an Israeli regiment crossed the frontier and that Israeli engineers blew up a police post two miles inside its territory. Jordan charged the attacking force of about 1,000 men was supported by machine-gun and mortar fire.

Carroll Apparent Winner

Denver, Sept. 13 (AP)—With his apparent victory in Tuesday's Colorado Democratic primary election still uncertain, former Congressman John A. Carroll began his third campaign today for the U. S. Senate. The 55-year-old Denver lawyer cautiously avoided claims of victory over his primary opponent, Charles F. Brannan. And Brannan, secretary of agriculture in the Truman administration, said he will decide after the official canvass next week whether to have a recount.

Decision Is Delayed On Removing Eye

Atlanta, Sept. 13 (AP)—The divorced parents of a 5-year-old Atlanta boy who has lost one eye to cancer planned today to wait a few days before deciding whether to permit removal of the other eye.

Doctors said that malignancy which caused removal of Johnny Pair's left eye two years ago now has spread to the wiry, fun-loving little boy's right eye.

His mother, Mrs. Bessie Pair, 32, and her former husband, Arnold Pair, were told there is no assurance that removel of the other eye will save Johnny's life.

The mother and father met with a minister and eye specialists yesterday and discussed their son's future.

Methodists Plan Fewer Speeches, More Discussion

Lake Junaluska, N. C., Sept. 13 (AP)—Fewer speeches. More time for discussion.

That was the sentiment of delegates to the World Methodist Conference, at the end of 12 days of meetings—at which more than 60 lectures were delivered.

Bishop Fred P. Corson, of Philadelphia, summing up the conclusions of "discussion groups" which met in the brief intervals between speeches, reported: "Delegates . . . to future assemblies want more time for discussion of current problems . . and fewer addresses."

About 2,000 delegates from 44 nations attended the conference, hailed by bishop Ivan Lee Holt of St. Louis, outgoing president of the church's World Council, as: "The most tremendous meeting Methodists have ever had anywhere, anytime."

The Rev. Dr. Harold Roberts, a British theologian and educator, was elected to succeed Bishop Holt.

The church's world conferences are held every five years, with the next one in 1961.

Former Pastor Of Modena Area Returns as Guest

A former pastor of the Modena-Clintondale Methodist parish the Rev. Evyn M. Adams, and his wife and three daughters have returned from Japan and have consented to spend a weekend at each of their former churches.

Sunday they will be Modena. At 10 a. m. they will speak to the Sunday school and show color pictures of their work in Japan. At 11:15 a. m., the Rev. Mr. Adams will occupy the pulpit at Modena Church.

An open house in honor of the Adams family is being prepared at Hasbrouck Hall by a committee headed by Mrs. Leonard Coy. Mrs. Beatrice Grimm is arranging the overnight and meal accomodations for the family.

To Visit Clintondale

The following weekend, the Adams family will be in Clintondale. At 6:30 p. m. Saturday, Sept. 22, they will be the guests of honor at a covered dish supper at Clintondale Methodist Church after which the Rev. Mr. Adams will give his illustrated talk on Japan. Sunday, Sept. 23 at 9:45 a. m., the Rev. Mr. Adams will preach at Clintondale Methodist Church and at 10:45 he will address the Sunday school.

The former local pastor has been student minister at Modena- Clintondale Methodist Churches from July 1948 to May 1950. After attending a school of missions in Hartford, Conn. he and Mrs. Adams were sent to Japan by the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church and have been active there in the work of evangelism.

Modena and Clintondale Methodist Churches are participating with other churches of the New York Conference in an evangelistic mission called "Four Nights For God" Oct. 21 to 24. The goal of the mission is two-fold: to rewaken the spiritual life of the church and to give an opportunity to future members to make their decisions for Christ and become active in the church.

A guest minister from a neighboring district will work with the host pastor and the lay workers of the churches, and preach during the evening services: Sunday and Tuesday at Clintondale, and Monday and Wednesday at Modena. Preparations for the mission are made by the commissions on membership and evangelism. Mrs. Florence Hyatt of Clintondale is chairman.

New Ice Show Opens

New York, Sept. 13 (AP)—The "Ice Capades of '57" which skimmed, swirled and skated into Madison Square Garden last night is another honey of a show. Bad point is that it has a boring "Hans and Gretel" dramatic sketch.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

P-TA Introduces Faculty Members

Woodstock, Sept. 13 — The Woodstock Parent-Teacher Association met recently with Leon Carey, president, presiding.

No formal business was conducted. In announcing his committees Mr. Carey added the name of John Majoros to the program committee. He praised the work of the program committee, whose plans were well received by the members present.

On Oct. 4, a layman will moderate a panel discussion on Spiritual Education in the Home. Church leaders representing four different faiths will take part.

Officers for the year were introduced by Mr. Carey: Mrs. John Marcato, vice-president; Mrs. Lillis Allen, second vice president; Walter Van Wagenen, executive vice president; Mrs. Elbert Varney, acting secretary; Mrs. Inger Walker, treasurer, all of whom were present.

Mr. Van Wagenen, principal, addressed the group briefly. Interesting enrollment figures for the grades are: kindergarten—28; first—24; second—36; third—28; fourth—28; fifth—28; sixth—28; seventh—21; eighth—26. Since the State Education Department recommends an ideal enrollment of 28 per class, Woodstock can be proud of an average class size of 27.4. The total pupil population is 247. Only the second grade exceeds the ideal in size.

Mr. Van Wagenen reported that the faculty attended Mr. Bennet's Superintendent's Conference at Onteora Central School on the morning of Sept. 4, and that afternoon met at the Woodstock School for orientation. Opening day, Wednay, a full session of classes went very smoothly.

Faculty members introduced to the group. Members of the staff returning are: Mrs. Van Wagenen, Mrs. Pinsley, Mrs. Montano, Mrs. Allen, Mr. Perhamus, Mr. Hancock and Mrs. Doremus. Only new full time teacher is Miss Phyllis Ambrose who teaches second grade. Miss Ambrose, of Kingston, comes to the school highly recommended from Cortland State Teacher's College, where she was on the Dean's List. This is her first year of teaching.

Several part time teachers have been hired through the County Board of Cooperative Services, of which Mr. Van Wagenen is a member. Present was Mrs. Jean Lewis of Kingston, who trained at the University of Vermont and has recently taught in Virginia. She will teach homemaking to the seventh and eighth grade girls a double period, and fifth and sixth grade girls a single period, weekly. Woodstock will share her services with Onteora Central School. Peter Lobello of Rosendale will teach art to all grades Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and other days at Marbletown. A new addition to the school program will be a physical education instructor, Mr. McCrindle, of Washingtonville, who resides in Woodstock. He is a graduate of Cortland State Teachers College. His classes will include fifth and sixth grade girls, seventh-eighth grade girls, fifth-sixth grade boys, seventh-eighth grade boys, meeting twice weekly, and all other grades meeting three periods a week. Mr. McCrindle will also teach at the Chambers School, where his wife is a member of the faculty. The Board of Co-op. Services will also provide a music teacher on a parttime basis.

Mr. Carey emphasized again that it is not necessary to be a parent of a child in school to belong to the P-TA. All civic minded residents who are interested in children are welcome to join.

The members introduced themselves and then adjourned to inspect the school and to talk with the feachers. A coffee hour followed.

Foundation Cast Rehearses Sept. 15

Woodstock, Sept. 13 — The Woodstock Foundation production, to be presented at the Woodstock Playhouse, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 28 and 29, at 8:40 p. m., will be a variety show in three acts with a "Woodstock Confidential" theme.

Casting for parts in the show got underway Monday night at the Zena Gallery, under the direction of Mrs. Elaine Funk. Among those who will appear are the Nick Gentile trio, William Spanhake, Sr., Norma Champanier, Barbara Moncure, Patricia and Harrison Muller, well-known dance team; Oudette Bouchard, Filipe Lanza, who recently danced at the Persian room at the Plaza Hotel in New York and Clem Nessel's four-piece orchestra which will be in both the pit and on stage.

The first rehearsal will be held at the Woodstock Playhouse, Saturday, Sept. 15, at 2:30 p. m.

Anyone who would like to appear in the show is requested to attend the next casting meeting Wednesday night at the Zena Gallery and also to appear at the Playhouse Saturday afternoon.

The annual production of the Foundation raises funds to provide awards to artists, writers, musicians and other creative persons in the community who apply or are recommended for awards. A selection committee, elected by the Board of Trustees, reviews the work of the applicants and makes a detailed report, after which the entire Board of Trustees votes to determine the final recipients. The number of awards is determined solely by the amount of available funds.

The box office for the 9th annual Woodstock Foundation Show to be presented at the Woodstock Playhouse, Sept. 28 and 29, will be open Monday through Thursday the box office will be open from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., and on Friday and Saturday it will be open from 10 a. m. until play time.

Boy Scout News

Woodstock, Sept. 13—Troop 34, Boy Scouts held its first regular meeting of the year Monday night in the basement of the Dutch Reformed Church. William B. Doran, Jr. was introduced to the troop as the new Scoutmaster. Mr. Doran replaces Walter Balk who resigned due to the pressure of business. However, Mr. Balk intends to stay active with the troop committee.

Mr. Doran announced that the troop meetings will be held Tuesday nights from now on. The time is 7 to 9 p. m., in the Woodstock School gymnasium. This new scouting night is effective next week. He also plans for an over-night hike and field advancement program the weekend of Sept. 15 and 16. The overnighters will be at Camp Tri-Mount. Arrangements have been made for cabins and other facilities. Assisting Mr. Doran on this trip will be Vincent Dean, Bill Wingate and Hans Sprenger. Of course, he said, all Scouts are urged to attend. Details may be obtained from any of the leaders.

Plans were also announced concerning Boy Scout Day at West Point, Sept. 29. The Scout Committee is endeavoring to obtain enough reservations for the entire troop.

All scouts are urged to attend the next meeting and a Court of Review will be held by Messrs. Sprenger, Graver and Van Wagenen.

The next regular meeting will be held Tuesday, Sept. 18, in the school gym at 7 p. m. The committee will meet at the Dutch Reformed Church basement on Friday at 8 p. m.

Girl Scout News

Woodstock, Sept. 13—Brownie Troop 95, held its first meeting of the season at the Woodstock School Monday afternoon and planned their coming winter's activities. Mrs. Jerry Jerominek, leader, discussed with the girls a project for making doll houses for hospitalized children, and each girl was assigned specified duties.

The troop also elected officers as follows: Kim Chalmers, president; Debbie Kramer, vice president: Emmy Gibson, scribe; Geraldine Jerominek, treasurer.

Lauren Cuerdon, a new student in the third grade, was welcomed at the first of the four meetings she will attend before becoming a member of the troop.

Village Notes

Woodstock, Sept. 13 — Mrs. Laurence F. Rainsford will be hostess to the Ladies' Guild of St. Gregory's Episcopal Church, Wednesday, Sept. 19, at her home in Neher street. The Guild will meet at 3 p. m.

For the politically-minded, the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen has a very clever and well-designed window display. Featured in this window are "Presidents of the United States of America," by Maud and Miska Petersham, an historical record of our Presidents from George Washington through Dwight D. Eisenhower, and an ingenious idea in earrings. The ceramic earrings, in black, ivory or blue, have an amusing tracing in gold of the party elephant or the donkey, thus enabling the wearer to show her political preference with glamour. Or, for the undecided or those who wish to keep their politics a secret, buy two pair and wear an elephant in one ear, a donkey in the other. This will keep everyone guessing. The earrings are inexpensive.

Bearsville Lodge No. 533, IOOF, will hold a roast beef supper at the Lodge Hall in Bearsville Saturday, Sept. 29, at 5:30 p. m. The committee in charge includes: Willard Berryan, Lloyd Gibson, Charles Timpson, Noble Grand Fred Reynolds and Maurice Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilman S. Skillings and two children, Cheryl and Philip, were guests last week of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice F. Hamilton of Bearsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Hamilton who have been making their home in Bearsville have moved to New York city where Mr. Hamilton is a senior at the Chiropractic Institute of New York.

There will be a dance at the Zena Country Club Saturday, Sept. 15, starting at 9 p. m. Music will be by the Catskill Mountaineers. Refreshments will be available. Julia Joy and Ruth Holumzer are serving on the committee in charge.

The Woodstock Artists Association will present the Carl Walters Memorial Exhibition of sculpture, ceremics, lithographs and watercolors at the Woodstock Art Gallery Saturday, Sept. 15, with a reception from 4 to 6 p. m. The show will continue to Sept. 22.

Clem Nessel played her accordion at a special program at the Woodstock Country Club Saturday night, arranged by William Scully, chairman of the entertainment committee Members and their friends from Saugerties, Kingston and Woodstock attended. Mrs. Nessel will also play next Saturday night, following the Calcutta Sweepstakes. On Sunday the Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament will take place and Clem Nessel and Bill Moore and his trumpet will play from 4 p. m. on.

Kiwanis Members Canadian Guests

Nine members of the local Kiwanis Club were the guests of the Kiwanians of Kingston, Ontario, Canada, this past week.

Local Kiwanians making the trip were club president Bernard A. Feeney, John T. Groves, John Spinneweber, John D. Groves, John Schick, Joseph Stout, Jack Feye, Harry Rigby Jr., Richard Shields.

Exchange visits between the two Kingston clubs were begun several years ago as a demonstration of traditional United States—Canadian goodwill. One of the Kiwanis objectives for 1956 is "To strengthen the friendship between Canada and the United States through increased knowledge and understanding of each other."

During the visit a golf tournament was held, with local members Richard Shields, Joseph Stout, Jack Feye, and Bernard Feeney in the "prize-winning" group.

Visits to points of interest in Kingston, Canada, a banquet at which Harry Rigby Jr. was the principal speaker, and an exchange of goodwill gifts, including an old Navy clock presented to the Canadian club by the local club, rounded out the program.

Just lift a loaf of williams white between your fingers. See what we mean! It couldn't be softer or lighter. The reason's in the flour. Tourist Trouble

Mexico City (AP)—The Chamber of Commerce complains tourists are killing Mexican cooking. Native dishes such as tamales, enchiladas, tacos and tortillas are disappearing from restaurant menus because tourists want steaks and potatoes, the group says. Cooks are specializing in foreign dishes and are losing their touch with native dishes, it adds.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Perhaps some folks, who take the Rondout Creek Bridge for granted, wonder sometimes how folks in the late 1800's and early 1900's longed for just such a bridge. I see by The Kingston Weekly Freeman, of Thursday, Feb. 1, 1906 that the "ferryboat Riverside, Captain James R. Rodman, while on its 6:30 trip Sunday morning, broke one of its drums, and the Skillyput was stalled in the middle of the creek." It was necessary to hoist this drum out by tackle, and it weighed 1,200 pounds." The item continues, "The drum had been in active use over 10 years. It will be necessary to have a new one cast in its place, which will probably take five or six days. Surely, the coming of a bridge is at hand." They do not say what they did with the ferryboat, meanwhile, nor how the folks made it back and forth over the creek, no doubt by row-boat, but what about the horses and wagons? No doubt they had to go by the way of Eddyville until the little ferry boat was repaired. That was no simple matter in those days.

Every once in a while I run across items about the tin foil and bottle cap factory in Kingston. I see in the Feb. 8, 1906 issue the following item. "Lehmaier, Schwartz and Co., manufacturers of tin foil bottle caps and collapsible tubes of New York, have removed their collapsible tube plant to the ground floor of 72 Prince street, the premises formerly occupied by the Republic Tin Foil and Bottle Cap Co., which has taken the whole of the upper floor of the same building. About 25 girls will be employed in this one department. It is expected the work will begin on Thursday." I wonder what happened to this plant. Surely it could have grown with the times, for these items are still used.

Another item on the chain-ferry or Skillput in the February, 1906 local press. "State surveyors are at work on the main road from the chain ferry slip at Sleightsburgh to Port Ewen to determine the grade of the state road to be built in the spring. The proposed grade is to be a rise of about 8 feet in one 100. The road will follow the present highway to the Abraham Sleight estate, when it will run in the rear of the residence of S. W. Perrine, through Dr. Hasbrouck's land, and will follow the brook until opposite the Morgan Turner house, when it will again strike the present road and run through the bank at the turn of the road, making a nearly straight road to the property of Mrs. Benjamin Wells, and so on through Port Ewen." That was a very important link on Route 9-W.

No doubt many folks remember the steep climb from the Sleightsburgh ferry to the top of the hill just below the school house. In winter it was a dangerous pass after a freezing rain. People who walked had to either wear scrapers or climb on their hands and knees. It was curved and steep. Today the Rondout Creek bridge is a straight lead into a wide road without a hill as they cut through the stone. I am surprised I do not read about more accidents of runaway horses down that Sleightsburgh hill during the Skillyput days. Of course Hasbrouck avenue is also quite a hill on the Rondout side. I often wonder why Abeel street which leads into Wilbur near Fischer's was not made straighter years ago. No doubt in time such curves will either be bypassed or straightened.

Danbury Fair Is To Open Sept. 29

Visitors to the 87th Annual Danbury State Fair, which opens Saturday, Sept. 29, will have the opportunity of visiting and witnessing fully 100 attracions for which no admission will be charged, John W. Leahy, general manager, announces. These include the grandstand show Monday through Friday, which is titled "The Spirit of the Pioneers," a Wild West program. On Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 29 and 30, and on Saturday and Sunday, Oct, 6 and 7, admission will be charged to the grandstand show. On the last two days "Irish" Horan and his "Lucky Hell Drivers" will present their thrilling exhibition.

In addition there will be the daily street parade, with the "Queen of the Fair," Andree Told, of Milford, at 2:30 p. m.

One of the special centers of interest at the Danbury State Fair, which opens Saturday, September 29, for nine days, is the Blue Ribbon Stadium. The Stadium is located in the center of the Cattle Department and all the scheduled events are open to the general public with seats free of charge and permitting a good view of the drawing contests.

Tentative Rate Is 46 Per Cent for Ellenville Village

A tentative equalization rate of 46 per cent, four per cent higher than last year, has been established for the Village of Ellenville, it was announced today by the State Board of Equalization and Assessment.

Ellenville was one of 111 more villages and five cities for which tenative state equalization rates were established.

Hearing Oct. 1

A hearing on the rates for these localities will be conducted by the board Oct. 1 at 1 p. m. at Hearing Room No. 1, State Office Building, Albany.

Of the villages and cities affected, 79 received tentative 1956 rates the same as 1955, while 28 villages and one city received higher rates than last year and eight villages rates lower than in 1955, the board reported.

Reason for Changes

Changes in rates occurred because of changes in the level of local assessments and review of information on assessment rolls of prior years, it was reported.

In this action, the board, for the first time since general revision of state equalization rates began in 1954, set a rate of more than 100 per cent for a locality.

A rate of 122 percent has been established tentatively for the Village of Liberty, Sullivan county, and a rate of 125 percent for the Village of Washingtonville, Orange county.

Explanation Given

In reporting this fact, the board emphasized that establishment of state equalization rates over 100 percent for these two villages does not mean that they are assessing local real property at more than its current value.

The rate of more than 100 percent simply means that they are currently assessing real proprety at a value higher than the average of 1949-1952 market value used by the State Equalization Board as the basis for computation of state equalization rates, the board said.

Use Market Values

The villages of Liberty and Washingtonville, like many other localities in the state, have accomplished a complete revaluation of local real property. These two villages have decided to assess their real property at full value based on market values of a date more current than the average of 1949-52 market values.

It is a matter of record that the trend in real property values since 1952 has been generally upward throughout the state, the board said. Under the circumstances, it follows that state equalization rates for these two villages should be more than 100 percent in order to be accurate and fair in relation to all of the other state equalization rates established by the board on the basis of 1949-1952 market value, it concluded.

For Uniformity

The board emphasized today that its fundamental objective in establishing state equalization rates each year is to be certain that all localities are treated uniformly and fairly, and that the state equalization rate for each is established by applying the same yardstick of real property values to local assessments.

Until now, the village of Catskill, Greene county, had the highest state equalization rate (100 percent).

This is not the first time that state equalization rates of more than 100 percent have been established, the board pointed out. In 1926, the State Tax Commission established a rate of 110 percent for the City of Saratoga Springs, and in the four years, 1926-1929, it set rates ranging from 103 to 110 percent for the town of Montour in Schuyler county.

The Equalization Board predicted that rates of more than 100 percent may be established in the next year or two for several of the localities undergoing real property revaluation. But, it pointed out, rates probably will again change when the board finishes its next statewide real property survey — required by law every five years.

Since the board's first statewide survey determined real property values as of July, 1949 and January, 1952, the next survey is due in 1957.

Work on the 1957 survey is already underway, including accumulation of property sales statistics, classification of local assessment rolls and preparation of various types of procedures.

Hoffay's Food Packaging Studied for Disasters

Two U. S. Departments Consider Cop's Ideas

Local Sergeant Would Fill Containers With Flour, Powdered Eggs and Milk

Spare-time thought to the nation's food problem, in the event of enemy air attack, has paid off in notice from high places for Sgt. Grover S. Hoffay, of the local police department.

We should use surplus food in safe packages prepared to endure long storage and transportation, the sergeant believes, and to an extent, the Federal Civil Defense Administration and Department of Agriculture are with him.

Sgt. Hoffay's belief in the idea was sincere and firm enough to inspire him to write first to President Dwight D. Eisenhower. There his letter won due attention and was referred to the defense administration.

A letter from Val Peterson, of civil defense, then notified him that his letter was forwarded to the Department of Agriculture which informed him recently that "we shall certainly consider it along with other ideas."

Water Idea Advocated

Meanwhile, only yesterday, an Associated Press report from Washington noted that The Federal Civil Defense Administration advocates packaging and shipping of water, like milk, in tight aluminum or plastic. The contents processed to prevent spoilage over a period of years.

SGT. GROVER HOFFAY

"In this manner, the individual could slowly build a stockpile of his own, a type of hoarding that would not effect regular market consumption.

Stockpile Proposed

"Cities could be encouraged to maintain one or more stockpiles of" 'Special War Emergency Packages' for distribution or sale, and stored in protected shelters conveniently located in and about the city.

"If these packages were processed and packed in the mills of established concerns, subject to government control, sold in the local grocery store at prices somewhat higher than the usual market price, there would be no conflict with private industry, and would, in fact, increase their business.

Storage Relief

"The higher price would discourage the use of these parcels in peace time, and, at the same time, relieve the government the cost and responsibility of storage."

Val Peterson, in his reply to the sergeant said, "Constructive suggestions, such as those you made in your letter, are always appreciated, and I assure you, are always carefully considered." The Department of Agriculture was considering the problem, he said, and he referred the letter there.

Department Writes

The latter department wrote, in part:

"The subject, to which you refer, is one to which a great deal of study has been devoted, and toward which continued effort is being directed. We are a long way from having final answers, but we hope ultimately to be in a position where those steps, which are prudent and necessary to the protection of the population in a war emergency, can be taken.

"With respect to the individual, or perhaps family type, stockpiles suggested in your letter, your attention is called to the Federal Civil Defense Administration program known as 'Grandma's Pantry,' to encourage consumers to build voluntarily a a reserve supply of food in the home, and in the case of consumers in larger cities, to have a compact package or carton of food ready to put into the family car in the event a threatened attack forces evacuation.

The letter noted that a copy of a newsletter on the pantry idea, was enclosed, and said. "It is recognized that this program has limitations, since many consumers are either unable, or unwilling, to set up such reserves. We mention this program, however, because regular commercially packed foods can more readily be rotated than can packages of the specialized type you referred to in your letter.

Wheat Only Surplus

"Your letter has reference to the nation's surplus foods, which might be utilized in the accumulation of a stockpile. Of the items cited for consideration, wheat for processing into flour, and packaging in special form, is the only commodity, which the government holds in inventory in substantial volume. The Commodity Credit Corporation has no inventory of eggs, whole milk, and potatoes.

"We do appreciate your suggestion, and although it has certain limitations, we shall certainly consider it, along with other ideas. Unfortunately, there is no ready-made or perfect solution to the stockpile question."

The letter was signed by Earl L. Butz, acting secretary of the department.

The idea of shipping water in cartons, like milk, in the event of atomic attack or other disaster, the AP said, was introduced when Stroudsburg, Pa., was flooded in August, 1955 by rains accompanying Hurricane Diane. A dairy at Allentown, Pa., sent the cartons filled with safe drinking water.

Civil defense directors in stricken areas will decide the amount of water needed and will appeal to dairies for shipment, the AP report said.

Ford, Chrysler Jump Gun in Big-3 Race

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

Detroit (NEA) — Ford and Chrysler are jumping the gun by one year with their 1957 models in bold bids to loosen General Motors' strangle-hold on more than half of the U. S. passenger car market.

They're abandoning the industry's tradition of waiting three years before coming out with completely new body styles—with face-liftings in between—by introducing wholly new cars this year after only one face-lifting.

It's close to a quarter of a billion dollar gamble that the U. S. public wants the rate of auto evolution speeded up and will pay the bill for the retooling and engineering.

If Ford and Chrysler are successful this year it's likely that GM will have to follow suit and shift from the three-year to the two-year complete change-over cycle.

* * *

The story will be told in the Chevrolet - Ford - Plymouth race. Chevvy clobbered Ford this year. But Ford is determined to make it a better race in 1957, with a completely new car pitted against a Chevvy face-lift.

Actually, the 1957 Chevvy reflects the cycle speed-up concept. Innovations include a body that "looks different" plus many mechanical improvements.

Chrysler Corporation's big effort this year is trying to win third sales position away from Buick with a dramatically changed Plymouth, and at the same time challenge Ford and Chevvy.

Ford, Chrysler and American Motors executives all now recognize the need to concentrate on the mass sale of one low-priced line to challenge GM successfully. This year, for example, Chevrolet sales led all other GM lines put together.

The prospects that 1957 may be another second-best or possibly the best year in auto history is part of the reason why Ford and Chrysler are daring to abandon the three-year cycle.

They also believe the presentation of so many brand new models in 1955 accounted for the all-time record of 7.2 millions sales that year. There will be more brand new models this year.

They point out that Lincoln, the car with the most changes in 1956 is the only U. S. car ending up the year with greater total sales than in 1955. Lincoln sales at mid-summer were 23,765, compared to 17,136 for the same period in '55.

"Our '57 plans are based on our belief that we will win a larger share of an expanding market," says Henry Ford 2nd, president of the Ford Motor Co., commenting on the general outlook.

* * *

"The forces making for big prosperity for Chrysler for the next eight months far outweigh anything that might pull us back," says President L. L. Colbert.

Industry observers claim this will be a vital year for Chrysler. Declining 1956 sales dropped Chrysler net earnings to $18,671,471 for the first six months of this year, from the comparable figure of $70,010,642 in 1955.

Chrysler's big effort in 1955 won it 18.13 per cent of the total market. The 1956 market reversal saw the corporation slip to 15.78 this year. It goal is the 20 per cent of the market which it once had. But competition is stiffer than ever this year, too.

Its wholly-new Plymouth will be bucking a wholly-new Buick too, this year. Oldsmobile and Cadillac are also out with major body changes. So are Ford and Mercury. Dodge, DeSota, Chrysler and Imperial have new bodies.

The credit situation is the only gloomy aspect of the general 1957 outlook. The Federal Reserve Board has tightened credit by increasing interest rates and this will be reflected in higher carrying charges. Also, the longer credit—from 30 to 36 months—which finance companies began giving in 1955 might have the effect of keeping a lot of customers out of the market this year. Many owners don't have enough equity in cars they bought in '55 to buy new models this year, it is feared.

St. Lawrence County Has 33 Polio Cases

Massena, N. Y., Sept. 13 (AP)—A total of 33 polio cases have been reported in the current outbreak in St. Lawrence county, which has about 100,000 residents.

The State Health Department is continuing a program of free clinics for inoculation of children through 19 years.

The latest case was reported yesterday.

The death of Louis Seguin, 3, of Ogdensburg, was indirectly attributed to the polio outbreak.

While en route home from a polio clinic with his mother yesterday, he darted into a street and was killed by an automobile.

In adjacent Franklin county, Dr. M. M. Kissane, Malone health officer, asked parents to take children to physicians for Salk inoculations, rather than wait for free clinics.

The United States produces about 36 per cent of the world's total lumber production.

AT FORD CONFERENCE—Mr. and Mrs. Gene Persico, left, of 100 West Chester street, are welcomed to the 9th annual business conference and alumni meeting for graduates of the Ford Motor Company's Merchandising School by C. More than 75 graduates and their wives representing dealerships in 11 northeastern states are attending the program at the Sagamore Hotel in Bolton Landing. The program includes a panel discussion of various aspects of the automotive business. The Ford Merchandising School was established in 1948 to train sons, relatives and employes of Ford dealers.

Youth Changes Plea

Hackensack, N. J., Sept. 13 (AP)—Robert May has changed his plea to guilty to a charge of conspiring to murder the mother and stepfather of his girl friend. The 20-year-old youth, from 85-15 35th avenue, Jackson Heights, N. Y., appeared before Bergen County Judge C. Conrad Schneider yesterday and was returned to the county jail in lieu of $15,000 bail after the hearing. He is one of three accused of plotting the death of the parents of Dorothy Long, 28, of Westwood.

Guessing at the very first trick made a difference of 1230 points when today's hand was played recently in an English match. South had to guess whether to play the queen or the ten of clubs from dummy.

At the first table, declarer was lucky enough to play the ten of clubs from dummy. East covered with the king, and South won with the ace. South knocked out the ace of spades, won the club return with dummy's queen, and ran the rest of the spades.

When declarer next began on the diamonds the bad break was disappointing but not fatal. He took the top diamonds and gave East the jack. East had to return a heart to dummy's king, and declarer made 10 tricks, for a score of 630 points.

At the other table, the Scottish expert, Albert Benjamin was unlucky enough to play the queen of clubs at the first trick. He let East hold the first trick, but had to win the second club with the ace.

Benjamin tried two rounds of diamonds, but abandoned the suit when West showed out. He next tried a spade, and West took the ace of spades and ran the clubs. By the time West had finished with the clubs, Benjamin was squeezed and never took another trick. He was down six, for a loss of 600 points. The total swing between plus 630 and minus 600 was 1230 points—all on a first-trick guess!

Reports Plane Lost

Taipei, Formosa, Sept. 13 (AP)—Nationalist Air Force headquarters in Formosa today reported the loss of a transport plane which it said disappeared on a night training flight Aug. 29. The plane carried five crewmen and three other air force personnel. It was flying over the high mountains of southern Formosa when radio contact ceased. Headquarters disclosed the loss after a hunter on 13,000-feet-high Mount Hsiuku brought word of sighting the wreckage of a plane.

Why We Say--

PLOW AREA: Our measure of land, the acre, started as merely meaning a field. When it was decided that some permanent area measurement should be made, King Edward 1 of England had a team of oxen plow a field in one day. This field was then measured and its 4840 square yards called one acre.

A doctor came up to a patient in an institution slapped him on the back, and said: "Well, old man, you're all right. You can run along and write your folks that you'll be back home in two weeks as good as new."

The patient went off gayly to write his letter. He had it finished and sealed, but when he was licking the stamp it slipped through his fingers to the floor, lighted on the back of a cockroach that was passing, and stuck. The patient hadn't seen the cockroach—what he did see was his escaped postage stamp zigzaging aimlessly across the floor to the baseboard, wavering up over the baseboard, and following a crooked track up the wall and across the ceiling. In depressed silence he tore up the letter he had just written and dropped the pieces on the floor.

"Two weeks! he said. "I won't be out of here in three years."

Reared Like Chicken

Belfast, Northern Ireland, Sept. 13 (AP)—Police discovered today a boy—apparently about seven—who they said has never bathed, cannot eat human food, who grunts like an animal and roosts like a chicken. Sgt. Hugh Ross said the "pitiful little boy" was found in a hen house at Down Patrick, County Down, 15 miles from Belfast. The children found the boy perched on a roost with the hens and roosters. "He cannot talk. He cannot walk and he cannot eat human food," the police sergeant said. "He has been reared like a chicken."

Annual Field Trip Planned for Sept. 22 By Historical Society

The Ulster County Historical Society will hold its annual field trip Saturday, Sept. 22 to Sleepy Hollow restorations, Philipse Castle and Sunnyside, home of Washington Irving on the Tappan Zee, in the Tarrytowns.

Members have been asked to meet at Sunnyside promptly at 11 a. m. Here they will be conducted through the small mansion where Irving wrote some of his best known stories and which he called his "elegant little snuggery." This house, authentically restored and furnished, should be of especial interest as much of the work was done under the direction of a member of the society, Myron Teller of Kingston.

After a box luncheon, members will go on to Philipse Castle. The old stone manor house, built in the 17th century by Frederick Philipse first Lord of the Manor, was headquarters for many years for the management of his large holdings. Near it are the famous Dutch Church and burying grounds, the old grinding mill, old barn with early implements, smoke house, slave cottage and the Dutch garden.

The trip affords an opportunity to study the Dutch influence and background which was the first culture of the Hudson River Valley. It also should be interesting to see the Sleepy Hollow countryside made famous by the stories of Washington Irving.

Town of Ulster Welcomes First Doctor; Halcyon Park Office to Open Sept. 17

By DOROTHY A. NAREL
Freeman Society Editor

The town of Ulster will welcome what is believed to be its first medical doctor when his office in Halcyon Park is officially opened on Monday, Sept. 17.

He is Dr. Joseph A. Ragione, a graduate of Creighton University School of Medicine, Omaha, Nebr.

Although a native of Buffalo, Dr. Ragione will be remembered by many in the Kingston area when he entered private practice at 143 St. James street in 1950. Prior to that Dr. Ragione was a general resident at the Benedictine Hospital and surgical resident at Mercy Hospital, Muskegon, Mich.

In 1953, the doctor left for Medina where he opened an office for the general practice of medicine but the many friends he had made in this area, the locality itself and the fact that Mrs. Ragione is a native of Kingston, drew the Ragione family back to Ulster county.

"My prime purpose in opening an office in Halcyon Park in the Town of Ulster is so that I may be of the utmost service to the people in the community," said Dr. Ragione in a personal interview. "We have visited many parts of New York State and have yet to find a nicer place than where we are right now."

That pleasant voice you will hear on the telephone when you call the doctor's office will be that of his wife, Mrs. Ragione. A former member of the Home Bureau Club of Medina, which was composed of doctors' wives, chairwoman of the women's auxiliary of the Medical Society of Orleans County, she also wields a talented hand in making ceramics, block printing and sewing.

"Since we had our son, Joseph to consider in looking for a community in which to settle, we were ever conscious of seeking healthful living conditions, playmates for Joey and lovely surroundings. We feel that we have found more than that because we have noted the vast progress being made, the constant growth in the area—and, of course, we hope to grow right along with it," said Mrs. Ragione.

Joseph, Jr., who is three and a half years old, was asleep at the time of the interview.

Dr. Ragione, who is a former member of the Orleans County Medical Society, is also a member of the New York State Medical Society, American Medical Association and the Elks Club. He served with the U. S. Army, 5th Station Hospital as captain with the medical corps.

The office of the doctor will be located at 8 Parkside drive, Halcyon Park. Office hours will be from 1 to 3 p. m. and 6 to 8 p. m. on Monday through Saturday. The office will be closed all day Thursdays.

In the opinion of this reporter, it is a wonderful thing that the Town of Ulster finally has a doctor of its own. It will prove a tremendous service for the surrounding area, especially in emergencies, day or night.

Let's do all we can to keep our doctor and to keep he and his family happy.

CAN SHE GO IN MY PLACE?

"I have received an invitation to a large semi-public cocktail party given for a celebrity. I will be out of town at that time and will not be able to go. I mentioned this invitation to a friend of mine and she said she wished she could go in my place. I would like to know if it would be proper to have her go in my place?"

If you are an unknown person invited to a large general party, it would be perfectly all right; but if it is a really personal invitation, it wouldn't do at all.

Shall I Invite Her In?

Dear Mrs. Post: When an acquaintance stops at the house to pay a very short visit, leaving a friend of hers sitting in the car, is it necessary that I give any thought to the person left in the car? Or should I go out to meet her and invite her in, or what?

Answer: If she stops in only for a very few minutes you would do nothing. But if the conversation runs on to any length, you should certainly ask your visitor to bring her friend in.

What Will He Wear?

Dear Mrs. Post: The company for which I work is giving a large dance in the near future. While the dance is to be informal, the members of the committee, of which I am one, have been asked to wear evening clothes. Since I will be going with my fiance, who is not on the committee, I am wondering whether or not he should wear a tuxedo.

Answer: A man should always wear a tuxedo (or tails) when accompanying his fiancee who is in evening clothes.

Talk While Dancing

Dear Mrs. Post: I am 17 years old and have been invited to my first big dance. I would like to know if I am supposed to carry on a conversation with my partner while dancing, or do I just dance and say nothing.

Answer: You are not expected to carry on a continued conversation however, if spoken to, you certainly would reply.

When should a gentleman offer his arm to the lady with him? This and many other questions on manners in public are answered by Mrs. Post in leaflet E-15, "Manners in Public." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

World Famous Trio To Give Concert At Hyde Park

The Hudson Valley Chamber Music Circle will present a trio of world-famous musicians in a gala benefit concert on Sunday, Sept. 16 at the Hyde Park Playhouse designed to underwrite the Music Circle's 1957 season of chamber music programs. The artists who will be heard are Rudolf Firkusny, pianist, Luigi Silva, cellist and William Kroll, violinist.

Mr. Firkusny, a native of Czechoslovakia, made his debut at the age of 10 with the Czech Philharmonic, playing Mozart's "Coronation" Concerto. As a child prodigy, Firkusny soon came to the attention of Leos Janacek, greatest Czech composer of the past half century, who died in 1928. He studied composition for a time with Janacek, and wrote a piano concerto and other works for solo piano, which have been performed in his native land. Concert tours of Europe from 1930-39 brought the young pianist to international attention, and he first came to America on tour in 1938, returning permanently in 1941. His New York debut followed in 1943 with the Philharmonic, when he played the Dvorak piano concerto. Since then life for Firkusny has become a succession of tours and triumphs, and he has now settled among us at Staatsburg in one of the houses on the former Huntington estate.

William Kroll, who has been heard several times in recent years on the programs of the Music Circle at the Ogden Mills Museum in Staatsburg, was born in New York city, but now makes his home in Woodstock. He was a graduate of the Institute of Musical Art (later to be incorporated into the Juilliard School), where he studied violin with Kneisel, first violin of one of the most famous string quartets, the Kneisel, ever heard in this country. There was also a year or two of study in Berlin, but his debut took place at the age of 14 in New York. For many years Kroll has been first violin of such famous ensembles as the Elshuco Trio and the South Mountain Quartet, and in recent years he has headed his own Kroll Quartet. For the past several summers the Kroll Quaret has been active in the Berkshire Festival at Tanglewood, and Kroll is a member of the violin faculty in the summer school there.

Luigi Silva, a native of Milan, Italy, shares with his fellow artist Firkusny the distinction of having studied composition with a very famous composer, in this case Ottorino Respighi, with whom he studied in the 1920's. Silva's cello teacher was Arturo Bonucci of Bologna. Engagements as first cellist of the Rome Opera and member of the Quartetto di Roma did not prevent Silva from finding time and energy to teach at the Venice and Padua Conservatories, and at the Royal Conservatory in Florence. When he came to the U. S. in 1941, he joined the faculty of the Eastman School at Rochester, heading the cello department there from 1941 to 1949. He has for some years been a member of the popular Mannes-Gimpel-Silva Trio, but this again has not prevented him from teaching cello at Yale, Juilliard, and the Mannes School.

This gifted trio will be heard on Sept. 16 in works of Brahms, Della Ciaja (1671-1755), Janacek, and Ravel, the final work of the afternoon being Ravel's Trio in A minor.

Tickets for this musical event will go on sale in the regular box office of the Hyde Park Playhouse on Saturday and Sunday only and telephone reservations will be accepted. They may also be secured from the following persons: Rhinebeck, Mrs. F. E. Cohn, East Market street; Red Hook, Mrs. William Frauenfelder, Bard College; Staatsburg, Mrs. Lydig Hoyt and The Three Arts, 56 Raymond avenue, Poughkeepsie. There will be no reserved seats but the Playhouse is known for its acoustics and its excellent visibility.

Some confusion has arisen over the fact that this final concert of the Music Circle's 1956 season was originally scheduled for Saturday evening, Sept. 15, but circumstances required the change of date to Sunday afternoon, the 16, at 3:30. There will, therefore, be no concert scheduled for Saturday evening, as some of the subscribers' tickets read. All such tickets will be honored at the door Sunday afternoon.

AT WORK ON PUBLIC AFFAIRS—Thomas Plunket, local Democratic chairman, is shown aiding the Public Affairs Committee of the YWCA plan a panel discussion which will be held Tuesday, Oct. 2, at the George Washington School. The panel will feature two representatives from each party and a moderator. Issues of national and local interest will be discussed. Also pictured are, seated (l-r) Mrs. Alex Gerlak, Miss Carol Wood, Miss Kay Heavey, chairman; Mrs. Miriam Van Derzee. Standing (l-r) Miss Marcia Clark, Mr. Plunket, Mrs. Mortimer Englander and Miss Phyllis Bulgatz. Conrad J. Heiselman, secretary to the County Republican Committee, was unable to attend. Junior League Plans Four-City Conference At Governor Clinton Hotel on Oct. 17

The Junior Leagues of Kingston, Middletown, Newburgh and Poughkeepsie will attend a conference in miniature in Kingston Wednesday, Oct. 17, at the Governor Clinton Hotel, according to the announcement made today by Mrs. James Norton, president of the Junior League of Kingston.

Mrs. Robert Wadsworth of Rochester, Board member and Director of Region 2 of the Association of the Junior Leagues of America, Inc., will preside over the conference. Mrs. Paul Wingert of New York city, consultant on education for the association, will participate in the program.

The purpose of the conference in miniature is to promote interest among members of the Junior League in community responsibility, efficient volunteer service and effective citizenship.

There are now 187 Junior Leagues in the United States, Canada, Mexico and Hawaii with a membership of 69,000 young women. Emphasis in the Junior League is on providing trained volunteer service to its community.

The Junior League of Kingston was founded in 1922 with 10 members and has grown to its present membership of 141.

The league is composed of young women who are trained and encouraged to become good citizens with a sense of responsibility toward the community. These women willingly give of their free time to volunteer in many community projects.

Among the early projects were sewing for the Children's Home and hospitals, baby-welfare work, pre-natal clinic and a bureau to provide free dental or medical care for those in need of those services.

Each year the league strives to meet the growing needs of the community. Such volunteer services as driving children to the Cerebral Palsy Clinic, hospital book service, children's theatre and the continuance of the popular loan closet, where a supply of hospital beds, crutches, wheel chairs, etc., is made available to the public, are only but a few of the projects in which league members participate.

Mrs. Peter Corsones is the chairman of the conference-in-miniature and Mrs. John Kerns, co-chairman. This is the first time since 1929 that the Junior Leagues of the Mid-Hudson Valley will have met jointly at a conference.

Talmadge Named To George Seat

Atlanta, Sept. 13 (AP)—Georgia's successor to veteran U. S. Sen. Walter F. George will be Herman E. Talmadge, 43-year-old staunch racial segregationist.

Talmadge rode to victory yesterday in the Democratic primary—equivalent to election in this state—over Melvin E. Thompson, whom he has twice defeated for governor, but never by such a smashing margin as in the Senate race.

Thompson, also a former governor, consoled himself that he polled more than 100,000 votes, or more than a fifth of the total.

Talmadge led in all of the counties heard from—147 of a total of 159—and had 378 of the decisive county units in his column to none for his rival. He had appealed in his campaign for an "overwhelming mandate" to carry his battle for "local self determination"—and racial segregation—to the Congress.

The popular vote count from 1,266 of the state's 1,798 precincts gave Talmadge 372,907, Thompson 105,907. It included all the larger counties, cities and precincts.

The 77-year-old George, now President Eisenhower's personal representative to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, first announced for renomination but changed his mind in the face of a Talmadge threat of a hot summer political fight.

Tillson Vols Group To Study Fire Hall Addition Project

Tillson, Sept. 13—A committee of three firmen was appointed at a meeting Wednesday evening to discuss with the commissioners plans for an addition to the engine room which will house the company-owned tank truck.

Plans for alterations and additions were completed some time ago and the commissioners advertised for bids but none were received.

It was indicated by the company representatives that the addition to house the tank truck should be completed before cold weather. It was urged that action be taken on this item.

It was noted that since plans were made and estimates submited the price of materials has increased and the estimates exceeded the amount which the district voted to pay for such construction.

Commander Appeals For Homes at Air Base

Plattsburgh, N. Y., Sept. 13 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Walter Sweeney, Eighth Air Force commander, has appealed for help in finding housing for Plattsburgh Air Force Base personnel.

Honored at "General Sweeney Day" yesterday, he told a combined meeting of local service clubs that a 1,685-unit housing project planned for the base would not meet all needs.

The air base commander said earlier this week that new personnel would have to sleep in offices and hallways because living quarters had not been completed on schedule.

Patrolman Held As Witness in Fur Hijack Case

New York, Sept. 13 (AP)—Suspended Patrolman Harold W. Dailey, arrested previously on a charge of possession of stolen goods, has been held in $50,000 bail as a material witness in the gang-type slaying of two alleged fur hijackers.

Dailey, 37, was held yesterday by General Sessions Judge Mitchell D. Schweitzer and was sent to the city prison in lieu of bail.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Alexander Herman told the judge that Dailey "knows who committed the crime."

"I make this statement on circumstances which I cannot now disclose," Herman added.

Denies Knowing

Dailey denied he knew anything about the crime—the murders of James J. Rocereto, 34, and Richard Langone, 33.

Dailey protested: "I know nothing about the murders. I'm here because of a wiretap and because of a coincidence."

"If I were put in jail for 100 years, I couldn't tell them anything more than I've already told them," he declared. He said that he had been held "incommunicado" since he was seized by authorities outside his Brooklyn home Tuesday morning.

The bodies of Rocereto and Langone, who had been hacked to death, were found in the trunk of a parked auto on the lower East Side last July 28.

On Trial at Time

Rocereto and Langone were on trial in a fur theft case at the time they were slain. A third defendant in the case, Louis Musto, disappeared at that time and is still missing. Musto was convicted in absentia.

At yesterday's arraignment of the 6-foot-3 Dailey, Herman sketched his background: Dailey once worked as a detective out of the West 30th street police station which covers the fur district. Dailey was ousted from the Detective Bureau and put back on a beat in Brooklyn. He later was arrested in Brooklyn on a charge of possessing 64 stolen bed sheets, and was suspended July 23.

Patrolman James T. Ryan, 31, who had worked with Dailey in the fur district, was suspended from the police force July 31 after refusal to answer questions about the alleged associations with Rocereto and Langone. Ryan later was indicted in Queens on robbery charges.

First natural gas well completed in the United States was drilled at Fredonia, N. Y., in 1821.

Navy Wife Contest Begins, Former Resident Entered

Festivities preceding selection of "Mrs. United States Navy," a contest in which a former Kingston resident is entered, begin today with a parade of 3,000 sailors at Long Beach, Calif.

Entered in the competition is Mrs. George W. Hughey, the former Virginia F. Steltz, daughter of John W. Steltz of 14 Stuyvesant street. Her husband, George, is a gunner's mate first class. The Hugheys have five children and live in San Diego, Calif.

The Associated Press reported today the choice of "Mrs. U. S. Navy" will be made Saturday night from among 31 sailors' wives from Navy commands throughout the world. They became finalists in the contest on the basis of essays written on the subject, "I'm Proud to be a Navy wife because . . . ."

Secretary of the Navy Charles E. Thomas flew to Long Beach from Washington to join the activities, the Associated Press said. On Friday, he, other high Navy officials and the 31 contestants will take part in the Navy's greatest review since 1934. Fifty-three fighting ships will cruise through the harbor.

The winner of the contest will receive a houseful of prizes, a new car and $2,500. She and her husband—and children, if any—will make official visits to 14 U. S. cities and Honolulu.

Oneida Officials Would Repeal Act

Utica, N. Y., Sept. 13 (AP)—The Oneida County Board of Supervisors has called for repeal of the youth court act.

The board by unanimous vote yesterday adopted a resolution objecting to provisions of the act that would allow judges to withhold records of cases involving youths 16 through 20.

Similar action has been taken by several other county boards. The act is scheduled to take effect Feb. 1.

The Oneida board also ordered an investigation into the county welfare department's handling of payments for drugs and medical care.

A state audit report for last March said records indicated there had been excessive medical charges and that some drugs had been prescribed in unnecessary quantities.

Corn Growers Check Variety Trial Results

Results of variety trials were reviewed at a meeting of sweet corn growers and others interested in newer varieties Tuesday night at the Davenport's Van Etten farm, Mountain road, Hurley.

William H. Palmer, county agricultural agent, said the trial will probably continue for another year.

Growers had the opportunity to examine the 17 varieties of mid-season maturity corn which had been grown for comparison. Yield records, flavor and quality were checked and representatives of seed companies commented on their particular varieties.

Corn was cooked at the meeting and checked for flavor and quality. Representatives of the Cornell Vegetable Crops Department were also present.

Gussie Seeks Annulment

New York, Sept. 13 (AP)—Former tennis star Gertrude (Gussy) Moran, famed for wearing lace-edged panties under her short court skirt, has filed an annulment action against her husband of five weeks. Miss Moran, 31, was married last Aug. 7 to Thomas J. Corbally, 35-year-old industrial engineer. Since then, she contended yesterday in State Supreme Court, she and Corbally never lived as man and wife. After retiring from tennis competition Miss Moran became a radio-TV sports commentator.

Israel Hails Suez Plan

Jerusalem, Israeli Sector, Sept. 13 (AP)—Israel today hailed the western plan for a Suez users' association. A Foreign Ministry spokesman said it could make "a significant contribution to the pacification of the area." "Israel welcomes any development which is apt to insure the rule of international law in the Suez Canal and end discrimination against the Israeli flag," the spokesman said. He pointed out nothing had so far been done to implement the 1951 Security Council ruling that Egypt's Suez blockade of Israel was illegal.

Bomb Starts Fire

Nicosia, Cyprus, Sept. 13 (AP)—A time bomb started a fire today in a laundry building nearing completion in the British military hospital cantonment at Dekhelia on the south coast. British authorities said the fire was put out quickly and no casualties resulted since the building was unoccupied. The explosion was the fourth on British military premises on Cyprus in less than a week.

Plane Crashlands

Fuerstenfeldbruck, Germany, Sept. 13 (AP)—A U. S. Air Force C47 carrying 11 persons crash-landed here today after engine trouble developed on a flight between Landstuhl and Landsberg. Two of five crewmen were severely injured. Their names were withheld pending notification of kin.

Nazareth, Israel, now is a town of 21,500 population.

FYL Disbands, Files Application for Babe Ruth League

1956 Slate Ends With Vols Named Loop Champions

Fraternal Youth League suspended operations last night and filed application for membership in the Babe Ruth League for the 1957 season.

League president Leonard Ellsworth said the action was taken at a meeting of league officials at the Elks Club.

The league for boys in the 13 to 15 year age bracket has been operating for five years.

Officials also voted to close out the 1956 season and declared the Volunteer Firemen champions for the final season of play.

The Fraternal League's shift to the Babe Ruth League, a solidly established national junior baseball movement, had been rumored for some time but no positive action was taken until last night's meeting.

Ellsworth said the application papers already have been forwarded to the BRL national headquarters at Trenton, N. J.

When the application has been processed and a franchise granted to Kingston, the present FYL officials will meet to set up the new organization.

Ward Rallies To Stay Alive In U. S. Amateur

Lake Forest, Ill., Sept. 13 (AP) — Defending champion Harvie Ward, one down after 15 holes of his fourth round match in the National Amateur golf championship, was lining up a difficult 15-foot putt when Billy Joe Patton whispered:

"Right here, and on the next two holes, is where you'll learn the difference between a champion and a golfer."

Ward imperturbably stroked his putt into the cup and his opponent, 20-year-old Frank Boynton of Orlando, Fla., jabbed at a four-footer and missed. Patton whispered again: "See what I meant?"

On the next hole Ward poked a four iron shot off the tee within a foot and a half from the pin and won with a conceded deuce after Boynton had three-putted from across the green. And the Florida collegian, who had been three up after the first five holes, saw his last hope vanish with a shot that went into a trap on the 18th.

Ward, seeking to become the first repeater in 21 years in this tournament, thus found himself in a half with virtually all the name players left in the last 16. The other half was filled mainly by a lot of fuzzy-faced college kids.

In Tough Bracket

In Ward's lower bracket were Charley Coe of Oklahoma City, the 1949 champion; Walker Cup captain Bill Campbell; John P. Ward, who went to the semi-finals of this championship in 1950, and little Joe Campbell, 1955 intercollegiate champion who reached the quarter-finals of the National last year.

Beaten favorites in yesterday's two rounds included Ken Venturi, sensation of the Masters and Open this year, who bowed to 38-year-old Bob Roos in an all-San Francisco grudge match. Roos didn't last through the next round.

Then came ex-champions Dick Chapman and Willie Turnesa, former British titleholder Bob Sweeny, intercollegiate champ Rick Jones and long-hitters Dave Smith, Frank Souchak and Doug Sanders in the third round.

The fourth brought the finish for Walker Cuppers Patton, Don Cherry and Dale Morey.

New Course Set For Grand Prix

Watkins Glen, Sept. 13 (AP)—A new course will be used for the first time Saturday as more than 150 of the nation's top sports car drivers go after six trophies at the ninth annual International Grand Prix of Watkins Glen.

The 2.3-mile course, laid out over the wooded hills west of this Finger Lakes resort village, has just been completed by the sponsoring Watkins Glen Grand Prix Corp.

It replaces a 4.6-mile course over county roads used for the past three years. Before that time, the course was over a combination of highways, including the main street of the village.

The Grand Prix itself, a 101.2-mile grind for modified sports cars, of over 1,500 cc displacement, will climax the program with a 3 p. m. (EDT) scheduled start. Sherwood Johnston of Greenwich, Conn., last year's winner, is not defending.

The preliminaries at 50.6 miles each include the Seneca Cup, the Collier Brothers memorial for production MG's, the Glen Trophy for production sports cars over 1,500 ccn and the Queen Catherine Cup for modified sports cars under 1,500 cc.

Added to the program this year is a 25.3-mile race for American production sports cars only. It has been named the Detroit Carrera.

Jays, Indians Lead Playoffs In Eastern

(By The Associated Press)

Schenectady and Reading stand one game away from the finals of the Eastern League's Governor's Cup playoff.

The Blue Jays and the Indians recorded victories last night to take 2-up advantages in the best-of-five series.

The Jays eked out a 5-4 victory over Allentown in Schenectady and Reading defeated Binghamton, 6-2, on the loser's field.

Pennant-winning Schenectady and Allentown will move to the latter's field tonight while Reading will be host to the Triplets in the third games.

Base Running Helps

Schenectady capitalized on good base running and some wild Allentown fielding to score its winning run in the last of the eighth.

Don Landrum went to first on his third walk of the game and raced to third on Jim Davis' blooper single behind third base. He scored on an overthrow to the second baseman.

Ray Mendoza batted his third consecutive home run in two semi-final games for the losing Redbirds. Red Robbins, Jays' star batsman, accounted for two RBI's on two doubles to lead the Schenectady attack.

Joe Randazzo and Mitch June continued to batter Binghamton pitchers. June smacked three singles while Randazzo clouted two hits including a two-run double in the fourth and a one-run single in the seventh.

'Changed My Style and It Hurt Me' Ex-Champ

Basilio KOs Saxton in 9th to Win Title

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 13 (AP)—Carmen Basilio, apparently as tough and destructive as ever, wore the welterweight crown again today after annihilating Johnny Saxton "for the sweetest win of my life."

"This was the one I wanted to win more than any other," said the craggy-faced, 29-year-old Basilio following his technical knockout in 1:31 of the ninth round over the cocky, 26-year-old defending champion in War Memorial Auditorium last night. Saxton beat Basilio last March in Chicago for the title.

"I beat him in Chicago and got robbed, this was my answer. If he wants to fight me again, I'm willing. I fight for money, I'll fight Ray Robinson, to, for the middleweight title, if Saxton has had enough. I agreed to give Saxton a return fight and he can have it anywhere but in Chicago," said Basilio.

"I want the fight and I'll beat him the next time," said Saxton through swollen lips. A white bandage covered the left side of his mouth where nine stitches were required to sew up a wide long gash that had spurted blood during the one-sided fray.

"I fought his fight—not mine," the dethroned New Yorker said bitterly. "The booing of the crowd upset me. Instead of boxing him like I did the last time and like I planned to do again, I went out and slugged with him, I wanted to show those fans. Next time I'll fight for Johnny Saxton and win my way."

If it wasn't for a $50,000 bond Basilio's handlers had posted to guarantee Saxton the return fight, there wouldn't be any cause for it, so thorough was Basilio's vengeful pounding.

Gaunt and with his ribs showing through his taut skin, the 146¼ pound local pride took charge in the third round with a slashing body and head attack that had the sleek New Yorker bloody, reeling and helpless in the ninth round when Referee Al Berl halted the massacre. Saxton had not been down, but he was heading for the canvas, so relentless was Basilio's furious assault.

Looking perfectly conditioned at 145¾, Saxton was only in contention for the first two rounds when he surprised the near capacity crowd of 8,546 and countless television viewers by meeting Basilio in midring and exchanging punches. He drew blood from Carmen's nose and the fans cheered the unexpected early fireworks from the usually back-pedalling jabber.

Basilio's share of the record Syracuse gross gate of $134,939 (net $117,067) and the $75,000 radio-TV pot, was $37,662. Saxton, collecting 40 per cent to Basilio's 20, earned $75,324.

It was the fifth time in the last six welter title fights that the championship changed hands and Basilio became the ninth man to capture the 147-pound crown twice.

Kaye, Carpouzis and Smith Advance

Champion Stops Dick Little in Straight Sets

Defending champion Marty Kaye polished off Dick Little in straight sets, 6-0, 6-2, yesterday to advance into the semi-final round of the Ulster county singles tennis tournament at Forsyth Park.

Also moving up with Kaye were Dick (Red) Smith, former Kingston High star who upended Jules Viglielmo, 6-3, 6-4, and George Carpouzis, the basketball ace, who surprised George Baechtle, 6-1 and 6-4.

A fourth quarter final match scheduled between Chet Fox and Fred Del Rosario was postponed until Friday because of a mixup in schedule.

Kaye will meet Dick Smith in one of the semi-final matches Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, Carpouzis taken on the winner of the Fox-Del Rosario match at the same time.

Good Matches Remain

The remaining matches promise to provide some excellent tennis. Del Rosario has youth on his side and is a slight favorite over old pro Fox. The winner takes on a surprisingly adept performer in Carpouzis, who is better known for his amazing scoring exploits on the basketbal court.

Kaye could run into serious trouble with Smith, an improved player who has the game to take it all. This meeting of former Kingston High School teammates could result in one of the best tennis matches seen here in years.

Finals will be played either Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock or Sunday at 10 a. m.

The tournament is conducted by the Recreation Department and sponsored by the Elks Lodge of Kingston.

Braves Rate Victory 'The Biggest Ever'

ButThoseBrooks: 'Well, so What'

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Milwaukee's Braves call it "the biggest one yet."

The Brooklyn Dodgers kiss it off with a "so what?"

They both could be right about that humdinger of a comeback 8-7 victory the Braves grabbed from the Dodgers at Ebbets Field yesterday, regaining undisputed possession of first place in the National League race.

Whether or not they were punchy from pennant pressure, the victory definitely was "the biggest one yet" for the Braves. It had to pick them up, relax some of the tension as they move into Philadelphia for a twi-night doubleheader tonight against the Phillies—only club in the league with an edge (8-10) over the Braves.

But the Dodgers, idle today, had a point, too. "It didn't hurt us. We were one game down when they came to town, and we're only one game down now. They had to win it. But so what? There's 15 games left."

If any club was hurt by the decision, it was Cincinnati. The third place Redlegs, also with 15 games left, fell three games behind while being held to just three singles by Johnny Antonelli in an 8-0 loss to the New York Giants.

The Chicago Cubs defeated Pittsburgh 3-0 in the only other NL game scheduled.

A's Beat Yankees

The New York Yankees and the Kansas City Athletics, walloping three between them, erased the American League's one-season home run record set in 1950 at 973 as the A's beat the league leaders 7-4.

Early Wynn helped set the mark, slugging his first home run of the season for his 17th victory as second place Cleveland beat Baltimore 2-1. Boston took third place from Chicago, deefating the White Sox 4-1. Detroit made it six in a row, beating Washington 3-2.

Billy Bruton, a .268 disappointment with only 46 runs batted in for the Braves, and Joe Adcock, a regular Dodger tormentor, drove in five runs between them as Bob Buhl, one of 11 pitchers in the game, came back in relief after losing 4-2 Tuesday night to gain this 17th victory and become the third ever to beat Brooklyn eight times in one year.

Bruton's eighth-inning single cracked a 7-all tie, driving in Adcock to beat reliefer Roger Craig. His two-run triple shelled 23-game-winner Don Newcombe in a four-run second inning, after the Dodgers had taken a 3-0 lead in the first while knocking out Lew (18-9) Burdette.

Adcock's 37th home run, with a man on, broke a 4-all tie in the sixth. It was his 13th against the Dodgers, matching the league record against one club set by Chicago's Hank Sauer against Pittsburgh in 1954.

Roy Campanella hit his 18th for the Brooks and Del Crandall smacked No. 15 for the Braves, who wound up a 12-10 edge in the season series between the two clubs.

Antonelli, beaten four times previously by the Redlegs, struck out three and walked none while facing just 29 men for his 16th victory. Jack Brandt and Daryl Spencer homered for the Giants, Spencer's a two-run inside-the-park job, to beat Joe Nuxhall.

Sam Jones bagged the Bucs on four hits while the Cubs got eight off loser Vern Law and three reliefers, one Walt Moryn's 22nd home run.

Ex-Yankee Eddie Robinson drove in four runs for the A's and his homer gave the AL a record total of 974. It came off reliefer Maury McDermott in the fifth inning and followed earlier shots by Yankee Hank Bauer and A's rookie Lou Skizas. Wally Burnette, former Yankee farmhand, won it with six innings of shutout relief. Tom Sturdivant lost it.

Wertz Cracks 28th

Vic Wertz also homered for the Tribe, held to five hits by Hec Brown and Mike Fornieles, with Wynn's breaking a 1-1 tie. It was No. 28 for Wertz, a one-season high for the big guy who was hit by polio last year.

Boston, now a half-game up on Chicago, rode in as Frank Sullivan tossed a five-hitter for his 13th victory. Jackie Jensen, with two RBI, his 19th home run among Boston's 11 hits.

Two walks, one hit and an error scored a tie-breaking run for Detroit in the ninth inning, giving Billy Hoeft his 18th triumph.

Collector

Spokane, Wash. (AP)—The clerk at a Spokane travel agency did a double take when Richard P. Penhallurick of Moses Lake, Wash., aked for a round trip ticket to Scotland and put the cash on the desk. Penhallurick plunked down 700 $2 bills and 110 $1 bills. One of Penhallurick's sons, who accompanied him to the travel agency, explained to the clerk: "Dad just likes $2 bills. He's always had a few around."

HVBL Champions Open New Season At Ellenville

Jones Dairy's Hudson Valley League champions launch the 1956-57 campaign Saturday night at 8 o'clock at Ellenville Economy.

In other matches involving local teams, Tony's Pizzeria hosts the powerful Dutchess Recs at the Central Recreation alleys; Forsts Formosts at Liberty Goodys and GI Joe's Express at Ten Pin Grill in Poughkeepsie.

GI Joe's is the former Elston Sport Shop squad and Forsts is now an amalgamation of the Packers and Rapp's Express.

Lineups Named

Nearly all lineups for the four local squads have been set as the first night of action approaches.

John Ferraro has taken over the Jones Dairy captaincy from Charlie Manfro, who is still listed as Jones member, but is reported headed for Tony's Pizzeria. George Robinson, Jack Ferraro, Jerry Oster and Chris Gallo round out the team.

Forsts have a potent lineup with Larry Petersen Jr., captain; Charlie Gildersleeve, Bob Birchall, Tom Carlino and Buster "300" Ferraro.

Joe Ausanio is captain of the GI Joe squad that lists Dick Howard, the migratory kegler, Joe Ruzzo, Bill Lawrence and Ken Joseph.

Four bowlers already named for Tony's Pizzeria include Larry Weishaupt, George Shufeldt, Harold Broskie and Jim Amendola.

DODGERS ARE UP IN THE AIR—Flying Dodgers fill air around second as Milwaukee Braves' Felix Mantilla is erased in first half of twin killing in fifth inning of Ebbets Field game. Shortstop Peewee Reese, who took throw from Junior Gilliam, left, leaps over Mantilla to fire to first to get Joe Adcock who started play with bounder to Gilliam. Braves won, 8-7. (AP Wirephoto)

(By The Associated Press)

Hitting:

Billy Bruton and Joe Adcock, Braves—Drove in five runs between them in 8-7 victory over Dodgers that gave Milwaukee an undisputed National League lead again; Bruton tripled for two and singled Adcock home with the clincher, Adcock got two with his 37th home run—his 13th against Brooklyn to tie the league record against one club.

Pitching:

Johnny Antonelli, Giants—stopped hard-hitting Redlegs with three singles, striking out three and walking none while facing just 29 men in 8-0 decision for his 16th victory.

Wiltwyck Changes Format For Member-Guest Tourney

Wiltwyck Country Club has changed plans for its weekend Member-Guest tournament in response to requests from many members, who were unable to play two days as originally planned.

The club's tournament golf committee headed by Dr. Fred Holcomb Jr. has requested all players who can do so to play both days. These teams will participate in the auction Saturday night during the dance.

Another set of prizes will be awarded to teams that play only 18 holes on either Saturday or Sunday. The committee is shooting for a 100-team entry.

Trouble Shooter Named by USTA

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 13 (AP)—The U. S. Trotting Assn. moved today to eliminate friction with various state racing commissions and parimutuel track operators.

The parent body of the harness racing sport named Allan N. Macleod of Chestnut Hill, Mass., near Boston, as its special liaison representative and he assumed his duties today.

Officials of the USTA admit there has been some "bickering" between the organization, the New York Racing Commission, and operators of some of the country's pari-mutuel tracks—and they believe Macleod is the man to calm the troubled waters.

The veteran official, who admits he has passed the "three score and 10" mark, resigned as chairman of the Massachusetts State Racing Commission to take the USTA position.

Macleod planned to confer the rest of the week with USTA officials here before taking to the road for a series of meetings with mutuel track operators and racing commissioners.

"I cannot conceive of any known problem in harness racing today that cannot be solved through frank and friendly discussions, carried out in good faith within the field of facts," Macleod said.

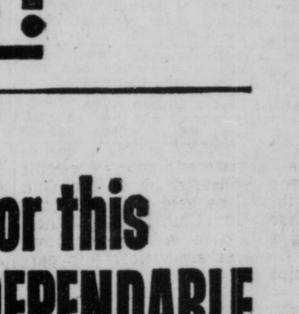

Federation Plans Monthly Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of Ulster County Federated Sportsmen's Clubs will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the clubrooms of Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club.

The legislative program concerning every sportsman actively engaged in hunting and fishing will be discussed.

SLIM PICKINGS—With pre-season scandals tarnishing the Pacific Coast football scene, cameramen had Jon Arnett, left, Southern California's halfback star, and C. R. FBI Agent Tells About Beating 2 In Race to Guns

Boston, Sept. 13 (AP)—An FBI agent related yesterday at the Brink's robbery trial how he and fellow agents beat two of the defendants in a race to three guns at the Boston hideout the two suspects were using.

The witness in the trial of eight men charged with the $1,219,000 Brink's robbery was FBI Special Agent Ernest Schwotzer, captain and guard of the 1939 Boston College football team.

Surrounded Block

Schwotzer said he was one of about 20 agents which surrounded the tenement block at 87 Coleman street, Dorchester, last May 16 when defendants Thomas F. Richardson and James I. Faherty were arrested.

Schwotzer and six other agents, he related, burst into the first floor apartment at 6:30 p. m. He said Richardson ran for the bathroom, where three guns reportedly were on a chair. But an FBI man "spun Richardson and took him under control" and then did the same to Faherty before they could reach the guns, Schwotzer said.

Offered in Evidence

The three revolvers and 16 cartridges were offered in evidence by FBI agent Ronald J. Weaver, who said the guns were taken from the bathroom of the apartment Richardson and Faherty were using.

Also offered in evidence was a bottle of hair color which Schwotzer said Richardson used to tint his white hair a reddish brown.

Much of yesterday's testimony centered around accounts of the arrest of Richardson and Faherty at the Dorchester address. Six others on trial with the pair for the Jan. 17, 1950, Brink robbery were arrested several weeks earlier and at different places.

Receives Signal

Earlier, Paul Barry, service supervisor for American District Telegraph Co., told the 14-man jury he received the signal that the Brink's office was robbed at 7:27 p. m. Jan. 17, 1950.

Under cross-examination by chief defense counsel Paul T. Smith, Barry said he had no first hand knowledge that the ADT office was broken into twice before the day of the Brink's robbery.

In opening the case against the eight men, Dist. Atty. Garrett H. Byrne said the gang twice entered the ADT office. He said the first time the men brought out a folder they hoped would tell them about the alarm system at Brink's, one of the ADT clients.

Finds Gun on Sand

When the information proved useless to the men, Byrne said, they broke in again and returned the folder.

Michael Ciampa, 16, of Medford, told the jury and Judge Felix Forte, how he found a .38 calibre Smith and Wesson gun on the sand near the Mystic river, Somerville, on Feb. 4, 1950.

Police later identified the gun as the property of Herman Pfaff, one of the men held up at the Brink's headquarters.

Ciampa's father, Michael, said he took the gun from his son and threw it away behind some stores in Somerville that same night. It was found three hours later by Somerville Policeman William Heafey.

Asks Briefings From Ike

Secaucus, N. J., Sept. 13 (AP)—Henry Krajewski, former pig farmer now running for President, has asked President Eisenhower to give him the same confidential reports on foreign affairs that Adlai Stevenson will get. "I understand that you are going to give Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate, weekly reports on foreign developments," Krajewski wired Eisenhower yesterday. "I as a candidate would like you to extend the same privileges to me as a presidential candidate. What's good for the goose is good for the gander."

Rotarians Enjoy Greenland Slides

Kingston Rotarians enjoyed some very interesting slides on the construction of new air bases on Greenland's icy wastes at their regular weekly meeting held Wednesday at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The pictures were shown and explained by Albert E. Milliken, local architect, who served with the rank of lieut. colonel as staff engineer under the Operations Division, Headquarters, United States Air Force.

A member of several expeditions exploring unknown territory in the extreme north of Greenland, his pictures revealed the primitive conditions in the Arctic region.

Ted Kroll, who became world champion of golf this year, also was a guest. He spoke briefly of his golf career, which this year netted him $100,000.

President Sabin outlined Rotary's participation in this year's Community Chest financial drive.

The open auction to be held September 26 at the Buick showrooms was explained by Richard Whalen.

District Governor Hugo Mellion will make his official visit to the Kingston Rotary Club Wednesday, September 19.

Motor Vehicle Insurance Law To Be Discussed

The newly enacted motor vehicle financial security act for motorists of New York state will be discussed at a meeting of the Ulster County Insurance Agents Association Monday at 6:30 p. m. in the Kirkland Hotel.

Kenneth C. Edgar, CPCU, general superintendent of Casualty Underwriting for the United States Fidelity & Guaranty Company, New York office will be the guest speaker on the topic.

Patrick Croce, superintendent of the Casualty Department of the same company will discuss the new family automobile policy.

Reservations for the dinner meeting may be made with Michael Larkin.

Only 10 Show Up

Clay, Ky., Sept. 13 (AP)—Only two Negro students, one white pupil and seven of a teaching staff of 17 showed up for class today in the face of this community's passive resistance against integration. The mayor said whites would boycott the school. In sharp contrast to past days, no crowd showed up at Clay's hilltop school, where the enrollment is 590. The two Negro students, James Gordon, 10, and his sister, Teresa, 8, arrived an hour and a half before class was to start. They played in the school yard and talked to newspapermen and national guardsmen posted in the area.

Knowland Gets Applause for His Freedom Remark

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 13 (AP)—"We shall not dilute the guarantee of the American Constitution or the Bill of Rights with any form of world government wherein American freedom is compromised with totalitarian tyranny."

That promise by Sen. William F. Knowland, Republican leader in the U. S. Senate, drew the biggest round of applause last night during his speech climaxing the GOP state convention.

The 1,850 delegates and alternates along with guests filled most of the Palace Theater's 2,854 seats. Many stood at the sides and rear.

Knowland criticized Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, for suggesting a halt in U. S. tests of nuclear weapons on grounds that would permit the Communists to gain.

Other Comments

Then he added amid more applause:

"We can understand what former President Truman had reference to during the Chicago convention when, while opposing Stevenson and supporting an opponent, he pointed out the danger of selecting an inexperienced man for the presidential nomination. . . .

"Another secret Yalta agreement with its devastating effects on the nations of eastern Europe and Asia must never again be permitted to darken the scene of this nation's foreign policy. . . .

"It was not until the publication of the Yalta papers in a Republican administration in 1955 that we learned that all memoranda for the President of the United States to take to Yalta was to be 'in the hands of Mr. Alger Hiss not later than Jan. 15.'"

Hiss was convicted of lying about the passing of secrets to Communist agents.

Debates With Ave

Earlier Knowland participated in a television debate with Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman of New York. The rapid-fire broadcasts were made from Columbus and New York.

Harriman asserted a change should be made in Washington to correct what he termed "the situation which is developing in the world." Knowland said Eisenhower should be kept in office because of his record and "should be given a Republican Congress."

855 New Polio Cases Reported

Washington, Sept. 13 (AP)—The states listed 855 new polio cases last week, compared with 887 in the preceding week. It was the second successive weekly decline.

The Public Health Service cautiously declined to speculate on whether the 1956 peak was reached at 943 cases in the week ended Aug. 25 but the indications were that it well might have been.

Illinois, reporting 103 cases, was the only state reporting more than 100 last week. In the comparable 1955 week Massachusetts had 290, New York 245, Wisconsin 224 and Illinois 112.

"The outbreak in Chicago is definitely on the decrease and the total for Illinois dropped again," a spokesman said. "We don't anticipate an outbreak anywhere else."

With a total of 9,769 cases this year from Jan. 1 through Sept. 8, compared to 18,198 in the similar 1955 span, it began to appear this year's cases may fall considerably below half as many as those in 1955.
